

ROOSEVELT DENIES CHARGES OF WILSON

WILSON INTERPRETATION OF BULL MOOSE PLATFORM IS FALSE, SAYS COLONEL.

TRUSTS OPPOSE HIM

Progressive Candidate Declares Harvester Trust is for Wilson and Taft—Defends His Trust Regulation Plan.

Trinidad, Col., Sept. 19.—A flat denial of the statements attributed to Governor Woodrow Wilson in regard to the progressive party's attitude toward the trusts was made by Colonel Roosevelt in a speech here today.

He said Governor Wilson was quoted as saying in a speech at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, that the progressive plans would work for the interests of the large corporations and would give them control of the market for labor. This is Colonel Roosevelt's reply:

"Mr. Wilson should be above misquoting facts in order to boost his own argument. He has the right to defend his own platform, if he feels bold enough to do so, and an entire right to assail the progressive platform, but he should confine himself to telling the facts as they are.

"In his speech yesterday he stated that the method proposed by the progressives to regulate the trusts was suggested by Messrs. Gary and Perkins before the committee of the House of Representatives named to look into the steel trust and he stated it was to save the United States steel corporation from the necessity of doing its business better than its competitors.

"Neither of these statements is in accord with the facts and a five minutes' inquiry on Mr. Wilson's part would have taught him that there was absolutely no foundation for what he was saying. Not once, only, but again and again in messages to congress and in speeches, Mr. Wilson has advocated the principles supported by the progressive party for handling the trust question, which is the principle applied to the inter-state commerce commission.

"I wish to call attention at this time to the fact that I know the majority of the men who control the steel corporation and the Harvester trust are in favor of Mr. Taft and Mr. Wilson. They are opposing me, indeed as far as I know the only men in these organizations who are supporting me are Mr. Perkins and Mr. Wilson.

"Everywhere I went in Minnesota and North Dakota I was informed that the Harvester Trust was supporting Mr. Wilson. I do not doubt that both of the trusts are sincere in their support of Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft, but I do know that Mr. Wilson and Mr. Taft occupy substantially the same attitude toward the trusts and that this attitude is of such proved harmfulness that I am not in the least surprised that any trust which objects to honest and efficient regulation should support either or both of them as against me.

"Mr. Wilson has not offered any definite action or given any essential point in regard to the present administration against the Standard Oil trust. The only result of the action brought by the present administration against the Standard Oil trust was to legalize that monopoly.

"Such being the case, I don't wonder that every crooked monopoly which wishes to be legalized consigns itself as opposed to the progressive party and to me and is seemingly entirely willing to have Mr. Wilson or Mr. Taft come into power.

"Mr. Wilson said that under the progressive platform the corporations would control the market for labor and that the only chance for labor was in competition. If Mr. Wilson was a man with a personal and working knowledge of the conditions and surroundings of labor, if he knew at first hand how working men live and what their needs are, such a statement on his part would be inexcusable, but Mr. Wilson's statement is based evidently only on abstract reasoning which is a class of laissez faire political economists have written on the condition of labor and the workings of the law now on the statute books."

Johnson in Indiana. Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 19.—A one day's itinerary of fourteen towns confronted Governor Hiram Johnson today when he arrived here on his Indiana tour. At the outset the governor told the progressive committee who have made arrangements for the tour, that he could not be expected to fill all engagements with speeches ranging from five to sixty minutes, which have been arranged, but that he would do his best. "I rather be a live governor than a dead vice president," he declared.

In Better Spirits. Evansville, Ind., Sept. 19.—Cordial receptions in southwestern and southern Indiana cities put Gov. Johnson in good spirits today and in all of his addresses he indulged in gentle sarcasms which was appreciated and applauded.

CRUISER DES MOINES ARRIVES AT TAMPIO. Tampico, Mex., Sept. 19.—The United States cruiser Des Moines, Commander Hughes in charge, arrived in port today. The cruiser was loaded with 21 guns which were answered by the shore battery. Visits were exchanged during the day by officers of the cruiser and city officials. The Des Moines will proceed to Vera Cruz, Coahuila de Zaragoza, and Progreso.

SAYS EVANGELISM HAS DEGENERATED

Speaker at Chicago Conference of Evangelists Says Commercialism and Professionalism Prevail.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Sept. 19.—Evangelism in the United States has "degenerated into commercialism and professionalism," according to Dr. J. M. Gray dean of the Moody institute who spoke before the national conference of Evangelists here today.

"The present day evangelists become so tangled up with 'boosters' and hymn book propositions that they simply are in a money making business," asserted Dr. Gray. Methods of finance conducted by some successful evangelist was declared to be "nothing but graft" by Dr. F. E. Taylor pastor of the First Baptist church of Indianapolis, Ind.

"When I started out as an evangelist," said Dr. Taylor, "another evangelist invited me to come to his house and he said to 'learn the tricks of the trade.' 'I've got 'em skinned a mile in taking an offering' was one of this evangelist's expressions," continued Dr. Taylor. "Imagine a Wesley, Whitfield or a Moody saying that."

SEARCHING IN CHICAGO FOR BANK ROBBERS

Detectives Seek Two Men Who Robbed Montreal Bank And Escaped Arrest by Slugging Officer.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Sept. 19.—Detectives are searching Chicago today for two bank robbers for whose arrest a reward of $25,000 is offered and who escaped with $150,000 in loot after beating Police Lieut. Burns into unconsciousness, when he attempted to arrest them single handed. The men are wanted for participation in the daring robbery of the bank of Montreal at Westminster, B. C. Five men dynamited the safe and got away with $320,000. Three have been arrested in other parts of the country.

SHIP CALIFORNIA OIL TO JAPAN FROM NEW YORK. New York City, Sept. 19.—The Standard Oil Company of New York exports to Japan oil which it purchases from the Standard Oil Company of California and the California Company makes oil shipments to Honolulu, but not to Japan according to Richard C. Veit, secretary of the New York Company. Mr. Veit so declared in continuing his testimony before a referee in the Standard Oil-Waters-Pierce litigation.

BIG SALE OF INDIAN LANDS HELD IN WYOMING. [SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Lander, Wyo., Sept. 19.—There was opened today, under the direction of the Department of the Interior, the first of a series of public auctions for the disposal of 1,500,000 acres of Indian lands. The land comprises portions of the old Shoshone and Crow reservations in Wyoming, Utah and Montana. The sale here is to be followed by similar sales at Provo, Utah, and Billings, Mont.

WEST VIRGINIA STRIKERS FIRE COMPANY'S TIPPLES. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 19.—Making their way through a line of sentries, incendiaries early today poured oil on the tipples of the Carbon Coal company at the head of Carbon creek in Kanawha county and fired the building which was destroyed with a loss of $10,000.

DEFENDS COLD STORAGE AT HEALTH LEAGUE MEETING. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 19.—A defense of cold storage was made today before the American Public Health association in session here, by Harry Barnard, food commissioner of Indiana. Adequate legislation and development of the practice of labeling cold storage articles, he declared, would do away with the idea that cold storage was an artifice used by the speculator to force higher prices and a practice which spoils instead of preserving food.

CHINESE PIRATES PLANNED CAPTURE OF STEAMER. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Hongkong, Sept. 19.—Pirates who had planned to seize the steamer Kwai-ping while she was bound for Heungshan on the mouth of the West river were thwarted today by the arrival of a warship. On board the Kwai-ping several armed confederates of the pirates were found. They were arrested.

MAKE A NEW ARREST IN ROSENTHAL CASE

Harry Pollok, Manager of Freddy Welsh, Pugglist, Held as Witness in John Doe Proceedings.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] New York, Sept. 19.—Harry Pollok in whose apartment "Bald Jack" Ross remained while the police were searching for him was arrested today on an attachment as a witness in the John Doe proceedings in connection with the Rosenthal murder case. Information reached the district attorney's office that Pollok was about to sail for Europe and acting district attorney Moss wished to insure Pollok's presence at the trial of Police Lieutenant Becker, charged with the murder of Herman Rosenthal. "It is true," said Pollok, "that I booked accommodations on the America and was to have sailed this morning."

Pollok was held on $5,000 bail as a material witness. A woman who was with him at the time of his arrest was also held in as witness in $2,500 bail. It developed that Pollok had evaded a subpoena by leaving his home by way of a fire escape.

RESUME NORMAL CAR SERVICE AT DULUTH

No Marked Change in Strike Situation Except That Traffic is Becoming Normal and Regular.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Duluth, Minn., Sept. 19.—There was no marked change in the street car situation here today, aside from the public apparently having taken the normal car service as indicative of the end of the strike and the cars are running well filled. However, many union men and "walking clubs" formed during the heat of the strike refused to ride. Much public enthusiasm and cheering was raised yesterday when the union men paraded bearing banners stating that they have not given up and that the strike is still on. About 125 men were in the parade. The old employee declare they will not go back until arbitration is arrived at or their demands are granted by the company.

Advices received at Washington from Nicaragua on Monday said that American blue jackets and marines had been called upon by the American minister, Wm. Wetzel, to rescue from famine the pupils of a college of girls at Granada, who had been isolated for 40 days. The college is a French institution.

MINNESOTA RETURNS COMIN IN SLOWLY. Results of Democratic Contest Are Practically Certain, However, According to Dispatches.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 19.—The returns from Minnesota's first statewide primary of Tuesday are still incomplete and count in many precincts all over the state still continues. So far as returns received are concerned no changes have been made in the situation to affect the nominations as announced yesterday. The counting so far has been confined almost exclusively to the Republicans and no changes have been made on the democratic ticket. The following nominations on the ticket are assured: United States senator, D. W. Lawler; governor, P. M. Dahlgren; secretary of state, Harvey Warshaw; attorney general, W. F. Dahme; railway and industrial commissioners, J. G. Reiter and J. N. Gayne; Governor Eberhart has a good majority for the nomination on the Republican ticket as governor.

ZEPPELIN BALLON MAKES A SENSATIONAL FLIGHT. Hamburg, Germany, Sept. 19.—The Zeppelin dirigible balloon, Hansa, made an over-sea voyage to Denmark and Sweden, today visiting the Danish capital, Copenhagen. The balloon, owned by the Zeppelin company, was launched at Copenhagen at 11 o'clock. The fastest train between Hamburg and Copenhagen runs a distance in nine hours. German military experts point out that the air voyage was far more difficult than a flight from Cologne to London.

C. P. TELEGRAPHERS WILL NOT STRIKE—GET A RAISE. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 19.—There will be no strike of Canadian-Pacific telegraphers. The men have been given satisfactory concessions by the company, including a 12 per cent increase in pay. A like raise for overtime work and a reduction in hours from an 11 to a 10 hour standard. The men had asked for a 15 per cent increase.

GOVERNMENT TROOPS HAVE BESIEGED THE NICARAGUAN REBELS

Federals Forced Revolutionary Army To Retire To Fortress Within City of Masaya—American Marines Fired On.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 15, via San Juan del Sur, Sept. 19.—(delayed in transmission)—For the last three days the Nicaraguan government forces have been attacking Masaya, the southern headquarters of the revolutionary army about twenty miles from the capital. The troops have succeeded in reaching the outskirts of the city forcing the rebels to retire to the fortress on Baranca Hill. Major D. Butler, commanding a battalion of American marines left Managua today to open the national railway to Granada on Lake Nicaragua and to do this it was necessary to pass through Masaya. As the train approached Masaya, it was fired upon by the insurgents and the engine came to a standstill.

The firing continuing, the train was backed out of the range of the rebel guns. Major Butler sent a note to the insurgent commander stating that his object was to open the railway and he desired to do it peacefully. The note added that if no answer to the message was received by four o'clock in the afternoon the marines would advance. General Leclercq, the insurgent commander, agreed to meet Major Butler and talk over the situation tomorrow morning. The train bearing the American marines is also carrying a quantity of Red Cross supplies for the relief of the people of Granada who have been reduced to the last stages of starvation.

Advices received at Washington from Nicaragua on Monday said that American blue jackets and marines had been called upon by the American minister, Wm. Wetzel, to rescue from famine the pupils of a college of girls at Granada, who had been isolated for 40 days. The college is a French institution.

THOUSANDS OF UTAH MINERS ON STRIKE

Army of Workmen Hold Undisputed Possession of Copper, Lead and Silver Mines Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Bingham, Utah, Sept. 19.—An army of miners, fortified and determined, held undisputed possession of the copper, lead and silver mines of Bingham, when the second day of the miners' strike, for a further 25 cent increase in pay and recognition of their union, dawned. While the workers, thousands strong and speaking many tongues dug breast works, strengthened picket lines and worked out a rough form of military discipline there was activity in the offices of the mining companies and the headquarters of the county and state officials. Development seemed to depend almost entirely on the success of Governor Spry who has been asked to urge the strikers to surrender the mines, give up their arms and wait in patience the success or failure of the mine managers' efforts to figure out means by which their demands can be granted.

That the militia should not be called out until all other means of settling the Bingham strike had been exhausted and that the board of conciliation and arbitration headed by the governor should leave at once for Bingham, to confer with the strike leaders was the decision of the governor's conference today.

Advices received at Washington from Nicaragua on Monday said that American blue jackets and marines had been called upon by the American minister, Wm. Wetzel, to rescue from famine the pupils of a college of girls at Granada, who had been isolated for 40 days. The college is a French institution.

TAFT TO MAKE TEST OF BUDGET SYSTEM

New Method of Estimating Governmental Expenditures And Revenues Will be Given Trial.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 19.—President Taft intends to give the people of the United States an opportunity to become familiar with a "budget system" of estimating revenues or expenditures whether congress approves or not. In a bill passed by congress and signed by the president in the closing hours of the last session, it was decided that estimates should be submitted to congress as heretofore. The paragraph escaped the eyes of the president at the time but since the session closed he has decided he will try to show the country the advantage of a budget system over the present method of estimating the income and expenditures of the government.

The president after consulting with Secretary of the Treasury McVeagh, has reached the conclusion that there is nothing to prevent Mr. Taft's sending along the estimates in budget form just as a comparison and not for use in framing bills.

MEXICAN PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL. Col. Vasquez and Capt. Rodriguez, Held for Neutrality Violations, Sawn Way Out of Douglas, Arizona, Jail.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Douglas, Ariz., Sept. 19.—Col. Ramon Vasquez and Captain Pedro Rodriguez, held here for conspiracy to violate the neutrality law, sawed their way out of jail here last night. They were arrested here last July for alleged participation in the so-called Vasquez Gomez conspiracy and were to have been taken to El Paso today to stand trial.

Cannoneau was again placed in communication with the outside world by rail today. The first train sent to the copper camp from Naco since the rebels, under Emilio Campa, destroyed the bridges at Villa Verde, contained provisions which were being coming scarce at Cannoneau. A train load of copper bullion was shipped out. There are about 300 federal troops there and the place is in no immediate danger of molestation by rebels.

SHEBOYGAN VISITED BY A CLOUD-BURST. Heavy Rainfall Last Night Does $10,000 Damage in Central Wisconsin City.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 19.—A small cloud burst visited this city last night 3.31 inches of rain falling in one hour. The Crocker Chair Company's factory was flooded two feet deep and about $10,000 damage caused to stock. Streets and pavements were flooded and sidewalks washed away. Several washouts were reported on lines entering the city. The total rainfall since Sunday is 5.25 inches.

EXTEND TIME FOR LABOR LEADERS TO FILE APPEAL. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 19.—The time in which Samuel Gompers, Frank Morrison, and John Mitchell may file appeals from their contempt of court sentences were today extended from Oct. 1 to Nov. 1. The three men are under jail sentence for violation of an indictment in the Bucks Store and Range case.

WILSON IN CHICAGO TALKS OF HIS TRIP

Democratic Candidate Highly Pleased At Reception at Twin Cities—Leaves For Detroit.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Sept. 19.—"Plainly the times have changed," said Gov. Woodrow Wilson on his arrival here today in reference to his reception on his tour which he said were "the greatest gatherings he had ever taken to since he entered public life." The governor spoke particularly about his visit to Minneapolis and St. Paul, where he spoke 20,000 words without having prepared a single word.

Fred B. Lynch, national committee man of Minnesota, conferred with the governor on the way here. The democratic candidate went immediately to the western headquarters where he talked to a gathering of business men and politicians before the time set for his departure for Detroit, at 10:30 a. m.

Besides the political side of his political side of his visit to Detroit, the governor looked forward to another incident—his introduction to Tyus Cobb, the Detroit baseball player, who lived in the same section in Georgia in which Cobb lived.

Ralph Smith, the representative of the national committee who came from Atlanta, Ga., and who is traveling with the governor, planned the "Georgia reunion."

Noon found the governor with the state board of labor conciliation and arbitration breaking speed records toward the mining camp anxious to restore calm before the growing passion of the 5,000 striking miners, and the force of 250 deputies lead to loss of life and destruction of property. Word had come from Bingham that the chief deputy in charge had threatened to storm the miners stronghold on the mountain side at noon.

A mystery of the strike was the simultaneous disappearance of President Moyer, who left Bingham on the train due here at 10:35 this morning and of Clarence S. Darrow who stopped off here on his way east from the coast and cannot be found at his hotel. Moyer did not appear at the governor's conference.

MURDER OF COUSIN IS CHARGED WOMAN. Mrs. Susan Altenloh Held in Chicago In Connection With Death Of Man At Lodi, Wis., Sept. 14.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—Acting upon advices from authorities at Portage, Wis., police today arrested Mrs. Susan Altenloh, wanted in connection with the death of her cousin, whose body was found on a railway track near Lodi, Wis., Sept. 14. Investigation by county authorities revealed that the man had apparently been murdered. It is believed that his body was placed on the tracks to conceal the crime.

Mrs. Altenloh, it is claimed, disappeared soon after the body was found. Mrs. Altenloh is said to have admitted to detectives she was with the victim until 11 o'clock on the night before his death. His body was found at 4 o'clock the next morning. Mrs. Altenloh is said to have been estranged from her husband, a physician. She gave her age as 44.

BITTEN BY A PET CAT HYDROPHOBIA FEARED. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Virginia, Minn., Sept. 19.—Bitten by a pet cat suffering with rabies Harry Hanson, of Mountain Iron and attendant at the Virginia high school, may be a victim of hydrophobia. The boy was taken to St. Paul today for the Pasteur treatment. Young Hanson was bitten by the animal last Sunday while petting it. His arm was lacerated. The cat was at once killed and its head sent to the state board of health for examination. Word was received here today that the animal was infected by rabies.

CALLS BREWERS MAINSTAY OF PRACTICAL TEMPERANCE. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Boston, Sept. 19.—In his address President Jacob Ruppert, Jr., of the United Brewers' association, declared that the brewers "are the mainstay of rational and practical temperance." He sketched briefly the commercial changes of the thirty-eight years since the first Boston convention, stating that between 1870 and 1910 while the population had increased 300 per cent the consumption of beer increased 700 per cent.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN HAS A NERVOUS BREAKDOWN. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Washington, Sept. 19.—State Senator Timothy D. (Big Tim) Sullivan, who has been in ill-health for some time, is said to have collapsed at his wife's funeral yesterday and is reported to be in a serious condition. The senator has been suffering from a nervous breakdown and diabetes. Senator Sullivan has probably been the best known Bowery character in twenty years. He served one year in congress.

AUSTRALIAN LEGISLATURE HITS AMERICAN BEEF TRUST. [BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 19.—The legislative council today passed a resolution that the government take action to prevent the American beef combine or its agents from obtaining a foothold in the commonwealth, and also requesting the government and other Australian states to pass necessary legislation to that end.

NEW COMMITTEE TO MEET ON SATURDAY

REPUBLICANS WILL ELECT SECRETARY AND ARRANGE A SPEAKERS' BUREAU.

PLAN FOR CAMPAIGN. Senator La Follette and Gov. McGovern Will Both Take Stump This Fall—Expect Senator's View on President.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—According to present plans the first meeting of the new republican state central committee will be held next Saturday in Milwaukee. It has been the custom to hold the first meeting of the new committee the first Saturday following the platform convention. Details of the entire campaign will be taken up at this meeting, a secretary elected, a speakers' bureau organized and a committee appointed to solicit funds for carrying on the campaign. Two years ago it cost about $8,500 to run the campaign, but William L. Essman the retiring secretary, believes it will require about $15,000 this year.

Men For Secretary. Among names already mentioned in connection with the secretaryship are those of Fred M. Wylie of Morrisville; Eric C. Stern, of Milwaukee; C. E. Shaffer of Madison and Assemblyman Thomas Mahon of Shawano county. Mr. Essman, the retiring secretary, will be unable to serve longer on account of his health which has not been the best of late. The committee elects its own secretary and treasurer.

The headquarters of the committee will again be in Milwaukee and Senator Scott, the new chairman is preparing to give all his time to a vigorous prosecution of the campaign. He left for his home at Prairie Farm today to make the necessary business arrangements there before taking up the campaign. Temporarily at least, the McGovern campaign headquarters at Milwaukee will be used by the committee.

Plan Speaking Campaign. Immediately following the organization of the speakers' bureau Governor McGovern and Senator LaFollette among others, will begin a speaking campaign. With a harmonious and enthusiastic convention and most progressive platform, all in striking contrast with that of the democrats, and with an excellent record behind the administration in the past two years, they are hopeful of a sweeping victory in November. The Senator and Governor will devote themselves especially to the doubtful districts of the state and in addition to these large corps of spellbinders will soon be put into the field among them Senator Otto Bossard of La Crosse; State Treasurer A. H. Dahl; Michael B. Olbrich of Madison; Speaker C. A. Ingram of Durand; J. N. Titterton of Oniro and many of the legislative candidates. Each of the candidates upon the state ticket will be assigned eighteen counties for his particular care.

One Modest Man. Senator Scott, the new state chairman, is the modest man. A crowded life-time has compressed into six lines in the blue book, the official publication of the state. He was born at Prairie Farm, where he now resides, July 3, 1860. In his early years he clerked for a time in a country store when the lumbering industry was at its height. When the lumbering industry began to decline, and trade fell off and the building became dilapidated Scott bought the store. After running it for a number of years he concluded that his customers were entitled to a better-looking store and he built what has been described as the most unique store in America. Architects from St. Paul were called in and devised a building on Spanish mission lines with harwood floors and other up-to-date appointments throughout. The store is ten miles from a railroad station.

After serving three terms in the assembly, being twice elected without any opposition, he was elected to the senate in 1910, the only opposition received being from a social democratic candidate. Scott gives his occupation as that of a merchant and miller. Likewise his election as state chairman came without a vote of opposition. Senator Scott is one of the most popular members of the legislature, a genial personality and an able legislator of whom further public service is expected by his friends. He has always been a close friend and supporter of Senator La Follette.

Views on President. Men in close touch with Senator La Follette, declined to discuss a statement that the senator intended to stump in Pennsylvania. It is apparent, however, that most of the senator's time will be devoted to the campaign in this state and the close friends say his views on the presidential situation will be made known at his first speech. Senator La Follette was at his Maple Bluff farm today and could not be reached.

PAYS A TRIBUTE TO SMITH AND FETHERS

Reply of Judge Winslow To Memorial at Supreme Court, Appreciative of Lives of Deceased Attorneys.

Following the presentation of memorials on the deaths of the Hon. Ogden H. Fethers by O. A. Oestreich, and Hon. William Smith, by Thomas S. Nolan, at the opening of the August term of the supreme court at Madison on Tuesday, Judge Winslow paid a high tribute to the lives of these two Janesville lawyers which was highly appreciative of their character and work. His remarks were:

"The bar of Rock county has been a strong bar since the very earliest days of the history of the state. It has furnished to this court two Chief Justices, and has always maintained its full quota of able lawyers. In this class for many years stood Ogden H. Fethers and William Smith. I knew them both well and I prize their friendship.

"During the time that I occupied the bench of the first judicial circuit, Janesville lawyers transacted much important business in the Circuit Court of Walworth county. For a number of years hardly a term passed in that county at which important cases participated in by Rock county lawyers were not tried. Mr. Fethers and Mr. Smith each had his share of these cases, and thus I was given ample opportunity to judge of the ability and character of the two men.

"While they were both men of intellectual strength and of commanding presence, two men could hardly be more different. Mr. Fethers was prominently a man of quick perception, rapid intellectual processes and ready wit.

"He was deservedly eminent as a citizen and as a lawyer, but it was as a public speaker, I think, that he specially excelled. He was equally at home at the bar or on the political platform. Pleasing in his personal appearance and captivating in his manner, he combined solid argument and well-nigh faultless rhetoric with a sparkling and irresistible humor, and he embroidered them all with the most charming flowers of fancy. He had also the actor's command of expression and gesture, and these gifts added in no small degree to his strength as an orator. He was not merely a learned lawyer, but he was a man of a noble store of knowledge upon all of the great scientific and literary movements of the time, and this knowledge made his conversation as interesting as the bubbling humor with which it was permeated made it delightful. There was furthermore a deep vein of true sentiment in his nature which bound him to his friends and his friends to him. His death leaves a vacancy in the bar which it will be hard to fill, and the vacancy which it leaves in the hearts of his friends will never be filled.

In regard to Mr. Smith, Judge Winslow said:

"In many respects Mr. Smith was the direct opposite of Mr. Fethers. He was slow and deliberate in his physical and mental action as Mr. Fethers was quick and impulsive. He was a ripe lawyer and a man of exceptional mental ability, yet it must be said, I think, that he was by nature averse to hard intellectual labor. It seemed to be necessary that he be placed in a position where he was compelled to exert himself before his strong qualities really came out. When he was crowded to the wall his intellectual strength showed itself and his powers came into full and often brilliant action. He needed a hard, not desperate case, to bring out the stuff that was in him, and when such was the situation his great frame seemed to become leonine in its strength, and his blows became the blows of a veritable sledge hammer.

"It has been said that a man can not be generally known by the name of 'Billie' and be really a great man; but whether this be true or not, I think it is certainly true that a man can not be generally known by the name of 'Billie' unless he be a lovable man. Mr. Smith was known by everybody as 'Billie' Smith from his youth to the day of his death, and in giving him this loving name his fellowmen made no mistake.

"Whatever his faults or his weaknesses (and who of us is free from them?), they did not affect the good character of the man, and that character entitled him to that full measure of the love and respect of his fellow citizens which he always received.

"The several memorials are ordered to be spread upon the records of the court in enduring remembrance of our deceased brethren."

LONG-HAIRED POLITICIAN SENSATION IN MADISON

Long Wavy Locks of Don C. Hall, of Stevens Point Attracted Envious Attention of Fair Sex.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—"Oh, I wish I could meet him and find out what he uses to make his hair grow so fine, and long! Can't you introduce us to him?" Such were the requests young women about the capitol were making of their gentleman friends yesterday as their beaming eyes followed a figure dressed in a long black coat down the back of which hung a wealth of wavy, flaxen-brown hair reaching to the waistline of its owner.

The owner of the aforesaid envied locks was Don C. Hall of Stevens Point, the most unique appearing character at the republican platform convention. He is the republican candidate for the assembly from the Stevens Point district and expects to be elected and have a hand in the legislation to be enacted next winter. He attracted more attention than anyone else at the convention and was forced to discuss his crowning feature, his fine brown hair. "It's part of my business capital," said he. "You see I am an actor. No, I use no hair oil, no pomade, no duffs, or cosmetics. I believe in taking care of the hair, but doing it in a natural way. I would not for instance, countenance the use of peroxide for the bleaching of the hair."

MARSHALL ATTACKS HIGH TARIFF PLAN

Special Privilege Thrives on Present System is Charge of Indiana Governor at Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—Governor Thomas H. Marshall, democratic nominee for vice president, in a speech here last night, charged that under high tariff the Japanese navy was able to buy steel at fifty per cent of the price charged the United States government. He said:

"The tariff schedules of this country, which have produced the trusts and monopolies, have been enacted by a species of log-rolling and the never-ending changes in these schedules are helping one man and harming another without right. This produces the real cause of the unrest in business conditions."

"The manufacturer is coming to realize that it is to his interest to have peace and certainty and to have his business divorced from the tinkering of government; that the sum of the benefit to one man has been equalled by the sum of injury to others; that the legislation has been local in its character."

Special Privilege.
"Once inoculate man with the right of special privilege and it goes into every drop of his blood. He thinks he is perfectly justified in taking it wherever he can get it, and legislators think they are equally justified in giving it whenever it is asked. Take this example, if you please, of the virus that is in our system; under republican rule in the state of Maine the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad paid $100,000 a year taxes. By legislative authority $95,000 of this money was rebated to the railroad under condition that the railroad should haul the troops of Maine free of charge in the event of war with Canada. Under the Democratic administration this graft stopped and the railroad was told that in the event of war regular rates would be paid for the transportation of troops."

"Special privilege will not treat its own people as decently as it treats others. The United States Steel Corporation sold its armor plate at Portsmouth, England, for the Japanese navy at fifty per cent of the price it charged the United States government, and I don't blame it for doing so. A government that hands an industry a bluegen with which to knock down its own citizens ought, itself, to be knocked down. This is one bit of easy money that I do not begrudge the United States Steel Corporation."

Control of Trusts.
"The control of the trusts by stand-patters and progressives, as proposed by their platforms, is practically the same. From the text of their platforms no sermon can be preached which does not praise the protective system, which a responsible, in large part, for the high cost of living, for the levying of a tribute of $100 a year off of every man, woman and child in America for the benefit of the trust magnate, and for the destitution and hopelessness of the working man's condition."

"The real fight between the stand-patter and the progressive is not at Armageddon—it is here and now, the real fight is to determine which shall be the scape-goat to carry the sins of the party into the wilderness of forgetfulness."

OBITUARY.
Anna Connors.
Anna Connors, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Connors, residing at 520 School street, died at 1:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of three weeks with heart trouble. She leaves to mourn her loss her parents; a sister, Julia; and a brother, John. Requiem mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's church at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. The bereaved family has the sympathy of a large number of friends.

NAMES SUGGESTED FOR SPEAKERSHIP

Number of Candidates Found Among Those at Platform Convention for Speaker of Next Session.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 19.—Candidates for speaker of the next session of the legislature were to be found in the ranks of both democrats and republicans at the platform convention, which closed here yesterday. In the republican ranks the name of John E. McConnell of La Crosse was perhaps the most prominently mentioned. Others of whom some talk was heard in connection with the position were W. E. Hurlbut of Oniro and Thomas Mahon of Eland Junction, Shawano county.

In point of service McConnell is the senior among these, being nearly a candidate for a fourth term, while Hurlbut and Mahon are both candidates for the second term. McConnell was also a candidate for speaker against Charles A. Ingram two years ago and lacked but a few votes of getting the nomination then. He was chairman of the committee on judiciary in the last session. Hurlbut, also was a member of the committee on judiciary two years ago while Mahon was chairman of the committee on country life, a new committee created then. Mahon, it is said, has the backing of the administration.

Before the primary election J. J. Mortenson of New Lisbon was prominently mentioned as a prospective candidate for the speakership. However, Mortenson was defeated for re-nomination in the recent primary. It is said that inasmuch as there is no democratic candidate in the district, thus leaving the fight wholly within the republican ranks, Mortenson is now considering entering the race as an independent candidate. If he should do so and be elected he will undoubtedly be entered by his friends as a candidate for the speakership.

If the democrats should capture the assembly among these members who will be urged for the speakership, in case of their election, are O. E. Roessler of Jefferson and J. Kneen of Bangor, La Crosse county. Roessler is a Karel supporter and was chairman of the recent platform of the party. He is a publisher. Kneen, who is serving his third term, was a supporter of Schmitz in the primary campaign and had charge of the Schmitz campaign in his county.

FARMERS' METING IN PROGRESS TODAY

Over a Hundred Farmers Gather at Asylum Farm to Hear Talks by Agricultural Experts.

Several hundred Rock county farmers gathered at the Asylum farm today for the annual discussion of agricultural topics and demonstration of improved farm methods which is held under the direction of the state college of agriculture. Professors Norwood and Conck conducted the meetings at the county fair today treating such subjects as silage, alfalfa, corn and grain raising, education of noxious weeds, and the scientific construction of farm buildings. Fields of growing crops and the county buildings were used in the demonstrations. Picnic dinner was served by the farmers and visitors of the asylum lawn and the day was fully enjoyed.

Following were topics discussed.
1. The production and handling of alfalfa.
2. Soil acidity and the use of lime to correct it.
3. The growing and making of silage.
4. The production and dissemination of pure bred pigs.
5. Crop rotation and systems of farming.
6. The eradication of quack grass, Canada thistles and other noxious weeds.
7. The planned construction of model barns and silos.

FOOD SOILING? STOMACH SICK, GASSY? BOELS AREN'T ACTIVE! CASCARETS SURE

That awakens, belching of acid and foul gases, that pain in the pit of the stomach, the heartburn, nervousness, nausea, bloating after eating, feeling dullness, dizziness and sick headache, means your stomach is full of soule—your liver is torpid—your bowels constipated. It isn't your stomach fault—it isn't indigestion—it's biliousness and constipation.

Try Cascarets: they immediately sweeten the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver; carry off the constipated waste matter from the bowels. Then your such trouble is ended. A Cascaret tonight straightens you out by morn.

10 Cents. Never gripe or sicken.

HAVE STARTED WORK ON WASHINGTON ST.

Gund & Graham Began Plowing Up Old Macadam Yesterday Afternoon With Steam Roller.

Actual work on the improvement of Washington street was begun yesterday afternoon when the steam roller and plow started to break up the old macadam on the east side, beginning at Mineral Point avenue. The work was interrupted by rain, but was resumed again this morning. A quantity of tools was received from Milwaukee this morning but the five dump wagons which were loaded at Kenosha last Saturday have not yet reached here. Superintendent Croft, stated this morning that the pavement on the east side of the street from Mineral Point avenue to Carle's grocery would be completed first, after which the men would return and finish the other side. This done, the east side of the street will be finished all the way to the city limits, before construction is begun on the other side of the city tracks.

REVISED ORDINANCES OF CITY PUBLISHED

Five Hundred Bound Copies Delivered at Office of City Clerk Yesterday in Convenient Form.

Five hundred bound copies of the revised city ordinances of Janesville, published under the authority of the late Common Council, and the succeeding Council were delivered at the office of the City Clerk yesterday afternoon. The volumes contain in addition to the revised ordinances an appendix with such special ordinances or parts thereof as are deemed of public interest, general annotations as to the powers of municipal corporations, provision of the general charter law adopted since April 1, 1902, and the statutes relating to the commission form of city government. A list of titles of chapters of the general ordinances, and complete indexes to the general ordinances and the appendix are included. There are 222 pages in the book which are bound in heavy manila. Attorney William Rager, Sr., at the direction of the Common Council undertook the work of revising the ordinances, making annotations, indexing and other editing and is entitled to great credit for the thorough manner in which it was accomplished. Copies will be furnished to the city officers and attorneys who call for them.

The word "bonehead" has been associated with baseball for a long time, and the game has produced some very good "boneheads." Indeed, the best of them all has just been discovered in Pittsburgh, as the following dispatch from the Smoky City will prove:

"After being shot three times in the head by two men who held him up on a lonely road in Moon Run and robbed him of a watch and $5, John Yammick, a semi-professional ball player, suffered from three scalp wounds caused by pellets of lead when they flattened against his skull. The hospital surgeons declared Yammick had the original 'bonehead.'"

In the American Association the Minneapolis Millers have clinched the pennant again. This makes three times in a row, they having won first honors last year and the year before. There is weeping and gnashing of teeth at Columbus. The Ohio club held first place practically all the time up to August 1. Then the Millers pushed ahead and now have a safe lead. Columbus will have to be content with second honors. Indianapolis is in the bottom of the cellar with a percentage of the season of .335.

A baseball team to be composed largely of Pacific Coast league players, with the addition probably of a few major league stars, probably will make a tour of Australia next winter. It is planned to take fifteen of the best known players, including two extra pitchers and catchers, who are to be loaned to the Australian clubs.

TWENTY-FOUR HOUR MOTOR CYCLE RACE TO BE RUN.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Sept. 19.—Devotees of cycle racing are looking forward with eager anticipation to the start tomorrow of the twenty-four hour motor cycle race at the stadium, motor dome at Brighton Beach. The contest will be the first of its kind ever staged in this country. The competitors will include teams representing England, France, Canada, Germany and the United States. Arthur Chapple of New York and Charlie Spencer of Springfield, Mass., will represent the United States. The prize list amounts to $5,000, of which the winning team will receive $2,500 and a gold cup emblematic of the world's championship.

Fights Scheduled for Tonight.
Johnny Kilbane vs. Eddie O'Keefe, 10 rounds at New York City.
Paul Kohler vs. Jack Goodman, 10 rounds at New York City.

Keeping a Fortune.

It is one of the significant signs of the times that there is an ever-increasing business of "looking after" estates, insuring and dispensing incomes to the idle heirs and the incompetent. The question is often asked, "Why should he work? His father left him rich." The work of keeping a fortune is, in reality, a business in itself, and sometimes it is more difficult than the making. To be employed in that business is nobler than haunting hotel lobbies or sitting in club windows.—New York Mail.

Consistency.

"I suppose you always say exactly what you think?" "I try to," replied Senator Sorghum; "but I also try to avoid thinking anything it would not be expedient for me to say."

WILL JEFF TESREAU BE HERO OF WORLD'S SERIES? MAKING GOOD WITH VENGEANCE

New York National league fans have found a new idol. He is Jeff Tesreau, and he may be one of the heroes of the world's series. Tesreau is the twirler who entered the big league this spring unschooled in its ways and saved the pennant for McGraw's club.

Tesreau has all the essentials of a great pitcher—the temperament, the physique and the stuff. His nerves are like steel. He is a pitcher of the ber of the team, or by calling at the school.

An effort is being made to have the gridiron at Athletic Park in the best of condition for the opening game. Goal posts are being erected, and the field will be more level than before. The field will also be fenced in, that is, have a fence at least five yards outside of the field of play to keep the spectators back. This has not been done for some time, and has caused some trouble among the players while in the progress of play.

It is of interest to know that the locals are to be much heavier than last year's team. They have at present a backfield which averages about one hundred and sixty pounds, with a line tipping the beams at one hundred and forty five pounds. This brings the total average to about one hundred and fifty pounds. Many changes will probably take place, as several men are thought to be disqualified. Practice will take place again tonight.

MACK SAYS DAVIS GOT A RAW DEAL

Connie Mack.

Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, has been the cause of much excitement in Cleveland. Recently Manager Davis of the Cleveland Naps was deposed and Joe Birmingham put in his place. Davis and Mack are good friends.

Mack had little to say at first, but a few days ago he came out with this: "Harry Davis was a victim of plotters within the Naps and their allies outside, and together they worked his ruin as a manager."

This statement has caused a lot of bitter feeling on the part of the Naps players and fans. They have indignantly denied the truth of Mack's statement, and say Davis worked his own downfall.

Wildier Brigade Reunion.
Mattoon, Ill., Sept. 19.—The annual reunion of the Wildier Brigade took place here today with a large number of veterans in attendance, including Gen. John T. Wildier of Tennessee and Maj. James A. Connelly of Springfield, Ill. The city was decorated in honor of the veterans and the citizens turned out to welcome them with a program of entertainment.

Like Walking On Air

Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoe

That's what every one of our customers that wears a Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoe says: "It's like walking on air—my feet haven't ached for ages!"

And we're mighty sure that you'll say the same thing—if you wear Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoes for just one day. For they're the easiest shoes on earth. Nothing else like them for folks that walk much. They fit easily the first time you try them on.

And then the soft cushion insole shown in the illustration spreads into and fills the hollows of your foot—supports it with a cushion—and distributes your weight so evenly that you walk on the whole sole of your foot instead of just the toes and heels. That's the secret of its comfort. That's why people that wear Dr. A. Reed Cushion Shoes never suffer from aching, burning feet.

Why not drop in tomorrow and see the line we have—many new styles and comfort guaranteed in every pair. Will you let us "show you" tomorrow?

PRODUCER AND CONSUMER.

H. H. Gross of Chicago, president of the National Soil Fertility League, said, the other day, that the people of the United States are consuming at the present time, 98 per cent of their corn, and 71 per cent of their wheat, and that the meat producing animals of the country have fallen off in numbers 20,000,000 during the past decade, while the population has increased 15,000,000.

These are some of the natural causes which contribute freely to the cost of living, and no law can regulate them. The lure of the towns and cities has added largely to our consuming population, and depleted the ranks of the producers, in proportion.

The object of the National Soil Fertility League is to stimulate and encourage agricultural pursuits by educational methods in our schools and colleges, and thus make the farm so attractive that the boys and girls will be satisfied to stay by it. A writer, in discussing the need for more intelligent farming, says:

"Manifestly, cultivation is not carried on as skillfully in this country as it should be; the farmers of many of the older countries are getting much better results. Manifestly also, the United States will very soon, if present conditions continue, become a food importing nation. There are signs of this change already. Mr. Gross' remark: 'We are facing the highest living cost in the history of the country. We must produce more or eat less,' might be subject to some modification. It is certain, however, that unless the American people produce more, they will have to pay higher for what they eat. The diffusion of agricultural education seems to be one way to a solution of the high cost of living problem. There is no good reason why all necessities should not be plentiful and cheap in the United States. At least, neither tariffs nor trusts can withstand determination on the part of the people to obtain from the soil all that it is ready to give."

That our soil is producing but a fraction of what it is capable of yielding is evidenced by the record of results obtained in intensified farming, especially in the South, where a ten acre patch is considered, much as a quarter section is in the North and West.

A truck farmer, near Chicago, raised in his own and neighbors' cellars, last winter, 3,500 pounds of mushrooms, which he sold at 50 cents per pound. That is intensified farming, on a small scale, but it beats the product of many half-ditched farms.

The tariff has nothing to do with the shrinkage in our meat supply, or the growth of population, which increases the demand, and all that it has to do with our consumption of wheat and corn is to help us gratify appetites, stimulated by national prosperity.

There is no reason why this country should ever be obliged to import foodstuffs. We have the land, and enough people to cultivate it, and the time will come when farm life will be so popular that the ranks of producers will be materially increased.

FINE REPUBLICANISM!

"The platform, as reported, of the so-called republican platform convention is more remarkable for what it omits than for what it contains."

"For the first time in its history the republican party in Wisconsin is stultified by a platform which either treacherously or pusillanimously dodges the duty of endorsing the platform adopted and the candidates nominated by the national convention. In that respect it stands in striking and humiliating contrast to the democratic state platform."

"The omission is constructively tantamount to repudiation of the national ticket—an affront to the party at large and its presidential candidate. No other construction will be put upon it, and no evasive quibbling about the distinction between national and state affairs will satisfy local republicans."

"Here is a fine situation for republicans in Wisconsin! A platform that amounts to a studied affront to the national party and candidates; a candidate for governor who refuses to say what his politics are, and is commonly supposed to favor a candidate for president and a third party whose proclaimed mission it is to work and destroy the republican party."

"What sort of an appeal can such a platform and candidate make to the sense of party loyalty?"

"In loyal republican eyes this alleged 'republican' state ticket is reduced largely to the beggarly status of a string of partyless office-chasers. For lack of a real republican platform and ticket such republicans, or many of them, will find themselves reduced to the alternatives of voting for democrats or not voting a state ticket at all."

"All this dodging and mystifying at Madison may be smart politics—and Mr. McGovern's friends say he is smarter at the game than Mr. La Follette, as the latter will discover some day. But we doubt extremely if the 'smartness' will be apparent after election."

The Milwaukee Sentinel thus discourses on the platform convention. The sentiment expressed will be endorsed by republicans throughout the state. The action of the convention was an insult to the intelligence of the party.

PRaise FOR TAFT.

"I want to pay my tribute of personal respect to the President of the United States," said Governor Wilson. "I don't believe any man who knows the facts can question the integrity or the purpose of the man who now presides in the White House."

This paragraph is from a speech made by Governor Woodrow Wilson at St. Paul, yesterday. The spirit of fairness which prompted it, is characteristic of the man, and is most refreshing after the farce which just closed at Madison.

Mr. Wilson is a rival candidate for the office of president. He said, at the opening of his campaign, that he would not indulge in personalities, but he will not be criticised by his most ardent supporters, for the compliment paid to President Taft.

With no mention of the republican national ticket, an aggregation of office-seekers met at Madison yesterday, and under the direction of the czar of the state, adopted a platform of laudation and reform, which has no parallel in the history of the commonwealth. If the republicans of the state are under any obligations to support men who are so disloyal to the party which has honored them, will someone please state why?

The Walworth county fair is in hard lines this week on account of the weather, but the fair is more than an exhibition, for it is an annual home gathering of thousands of friends and neighbors, whose lives have been spent in one of the best counties in the state. A county without a large city has many interests in common, and the rain will not interfere with a good time.

The spirit of subservency which marked the so-called republican convention at Madison, indicates that the state university will be able to do business with the next legislature. If the state school needs any more farms they can be secured at any old price and the tax collectors can "Go out and get the mon'!"

The spirit which prompted the instruction to the income tax assessors to "Go out and get the mon'!" was the spirit which dominated the platform convention in Madison. The work of reform was reviewed and applauded and everybody was congratulated who had a hand in burdening the state with taxation.

It is difficult to make much headway in abusing a man, when he don't talk back," as Colonel Roosevelt is discovering, in his tirades against his old friend, "Will." The dignified silence, which President Taft maintains, is making friends and votes for him every day.

Senator Timothy Burke of Green Bay was the only man on record who thought enough of the republican party to ask that the national administration be endorsed, and his resolution died a natural death, in the hands of the committee.

Does anybody know who McGovern will support for president? He was supposed to declare himself on the 17th. The man who asks for republican support should be a republican first.

The colonel talked to the Indians in New Mexico yesterday, about being "boss-ridden," but failed to make much impression.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

The Subject Eternal.
They harp upon it every day
And have for decades past.
Of all the campaign arguments,
It is the first and last.

It hangs around like Banquet's ghost
And won't be scared away.
It is the thing they argue most
Throughout the entire fray.

Nobody understands it well
And most folks not at all,
But still it is the subject on
Which all the speakers bawl.

They've fought it out for years and years;
They've argued day and night;
But still it doesn't seem as though
They'll ever fix it right.

They're at it once again this year,
They will forget it never,
For men may come and men may go,
But the tariff goes on forever.

According to Uncle Abner.
There are a lot of political experts
Who can't make a livin' at it or anything else.

A Modern Refusal.

"Then you won't marry me."
"No, Archibald, I will not."
"You will not change your mind and be sorry afterward that you have refused me?"

"Positively not."
"This I suppose is final."
"Absolutely."
"And there will be no come back?"

"None."
"You realize what you are doing?"

Heart to Heart Talks.
By EDWIN A. NYE.

A BRAVE GIRL.

Discouraged?
Then read the story of Lucy Adams of the New York Home For the Incurables.

More than twenty years ago, when she was a little girl of six years, she fell down an elevated station and broke her back just above the waist line.

For six years she was taken from one hospital to another, suffering as few suffer. Fourteen years ago she was sent to the home for incurables, a hopeless case.

What a sad faced, despairing woman
she must be!

But, no!
Of all the confirmed invalids in that place of 300 incurables she is the most cheerful. She reads much, takes great interest in current events and is very sweet in her disposition. When not tortured by pain she is always smiling.

Think of it!
She cannot even sit up in bed.
When she is strapped to a brace she can recline in an invalid's chair and be wheeled about. But that necessitates a special nurse, and the helpless girl cannot often afford the expense.
Her people are poor.

Once in the fourteen years she was taken away—to the Manhattan hospital for a proposed operation. But, alas, the spinal cord was so twisted about the broken place that the surgeons did not dare to operate.

It must have been a great disappointment to Miss Adams, but she does not speak of it. Instead, she is radiant over the kind treatment she receives.

Speaking of the doctors and nurses at the Manhattan, she says, "Oh, they were perfectly beautiful to me!" And there on her little cot she smilingly faces the coming years—and the death which may be long delayed.

And you?
With a firm spine, a poised body and feet that will carry you wherever you may choose to go, are you not ashamed that you should ever complain of your lot?

Some one says, "I can see neither the justice of such suffering nor the moral purpose of it."

Perhaps not.
Yet there must be compensation in the life of the bedridden girl, else she would not be as happy as she apparently is.

And, as for the moral purpose of such suffering, that depends. If, knowing of such bravery in the crippled girl, you are helped to bear your burdens it is not without significance.

"Yes, I do. I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"Thank Heaven," murmured the Old Bachelor, "I have done my duty.
You're an angel, Maggie. I am going to send you a box of flowers. I was afraid you might accept me. Now, having been disappointed in love, I will never have to propose again."

Catched on the Fly.
Mr. Sherman would like to have the public pay a little attention to him. Well, the public is paying just as little attention to him as possible.

How to Swat Flies Always keep the swatter raised in the air and poised ready to descend.
It is the raising of the swatter in the air preparatory to striking that scares the fly away.

When you swat the fly be sure and hit him on the back of the head. The nerves of the fly center at the base of the brain as they do in the human being,
and if you swat the fly on this spot, while you may not kill him, you will at least paralyze him so that he will be out of the game for the rest of the season.

The real time to swat is when you find a fly convention in the sugar bowl. You can then make what might be called a pot swat and exterminate the heads of several families of flies at one full swoop.

One way to make the flies stand still while you swat them is to catch them on fly paper first. Then you can swat them, not only once, but several times.

Never attempt to swat flies while they are swimming around in the soup, for soup travels fast and you are liable to ruin the wall paper as well as your shirt front.

Fred Larson Badly Injured Yesterday Afternoon While Working in Larson Machine Shop.

Fred Larson, residing at 501 South Garfield avenue, suffered a painful injury yesterday afternoon, the heavy bed plate of a planer falling upon his leg as he was at work in the Larson machine shop on North River street.

The ambulance was summoned and he was removed to his home for medical treatment. The limb was found to be badly bruised but no bones were broken. It will probably be some time before he will be able to return to work. Repairs were being made to the planer and in some unaccountable manner the bed plate of the machine slipped out of the workman's hands and fell upon Mr. Larson's leg.

These chilly nights are simply reminders to us of what is in store for us later on. Now is the time to lay in your supply of Blankets and Quilts. We are particularly well equipped with a very complete stock in this as in all other lines, and have some bargains waiting for you which you cannot obtain elsewhere.

NOW RAISING WALLS FOR NEW HOSPITAL

Construction Progressing After Enforced Delay—More Workmen to Be Added to Force.

After a tie-up of a week, caused by the delayed arrival of a shipment of Bedford stone, construction of the new Palmer Memorial hospital building has been resumed and is making good progress. The concrete foundation has been completed and work begun on the walls. The Bedford stone waterable for the front of the building was placed today and steel beams have been raised to the height of the second story.

F. Jobin, superintendent of construction for the contractors, the Union Construction company, has seven men and two teams at work, but will increase his working force to twenty-five or thirty men next week. If no further delays occur he expects to have the building completed by December 15.

The plans of the new building, which were drawn by Chatter & Hammond, promise a structure that will be very substantial and attractive and well adapted to its purpose. It will be three stories in height, the dimensions being 91 by 45 feet. Large porches will be placed at each end and for every story, and service porches at the rear. Red pressed brick will be used as facing for all four walls and for the rusticated corners. A balustrade of cement stone will surmount the front wall. At the main entrance will be a stone pediment supported by Doric columns.

A corridor will run the full length of the first floor. Opening off the vestibule will be a spacious lobby, private and public office rooms, a toilet and bath room and two other large rooms. On the other side of the corridor will be placed the kitchen, pantry, and other rooms which may be used for wards. An electric elevator will be installed.

The greater part of the second floor will be given over to wards. The sacristy and chapel will also be placed here, as well as a linen closet and diet kitchen. The operating room, surgeons' wash room, a diet kitchen, supply room, and eight or more wards will be situated on the third floor. A dining room and laboratory will be housed in the basement, and room provided for storage and heating apparatus.

TROLLEY CAR VICTIM TO BE BURIED HERE

Mrs. William Roberts Who Was Killed By Trolley Car At Waukesha Has Relatives in City.

The remains of Mrs. William Roberts, who was killed in a street car accident at Waukesha yesterday, will be brought to this city at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and be taken at once to St. Patrick's church where requiem mass will be celebrated. Burial will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery. Mrs. Roberts is a sister of Mrs. John Delaney, Miss Gella Whalen, and John and Thomas Whalen of this city. The message announcing her death and funeral arrangements did not give any account of the circumstances of the accident.

MATRIMONIAL.

Drafahl-Stendel. Miss Luella Drafahl and Mr. Fern Stendel, both of this city, were united in marriage in Belvidere, Ill., on Wednesday, Sept. 18. The ceremony was performed at the residence of Rev. W. A. Minty of the Congregational church. Miss Elsie Stendel, a sister of the groom and Miss Eva Drafahl sister of the bride attended the couple. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Drafahl, 529 Fifth avenue and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Stendel, Franklin street.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stendel left for Chicago, Minneapolis, and Detroit, Mich. On their return they will make their home at Milwaukee.

MADE AN ATTEMPT TO ROB CAMPBELL GROCERY STORE

Thief Entered Through Transom And Tampered With Cash Register But Carried Nothing Away.

An attempt to burglarize the grocery store of A. C. Campbell, 407 South Jackson street, was made last evening by a thief who entered by breaking open the transom over the door. It was discovered that he had tampered with the cash register, but had not been able to open it. Only a few cents were inside. Nothing was found missing and it is thought that the burglar was an amateur who was in search of cash only and did not care to linger long enough to break open the register. The police were notified and made an investigation.

WOMEN AS FARMERS

Outdoor Life Is Luring to Dwellers on Prairies.

Daughters of Two Men, Who Were Disabled, Prove Expert Agriculturists—Perform All Kinds of Manual Labor.

Topeka, Kan.—Many Kansas women are turning to agriculture and to a life out of doors. Within the last two years a score or more of young women have chosen the farming vocation in preference to teaching and to clerkships in stores and stenographic positions. Some of them declare that much of the work may be done by women now that modern machinery has lightened the burdens of the farmer. But the greatest benefits come, they say, from the needed exercise and the life in the open air.

Prominent among the young women of Kansas who are making a success at farming are the Misses Ruby and Olive Herd of Hodgeman county. These two sisters own a farm seven miles west of Jetmore. Preferring a life of independence, they bought the land and built a modest cottage and turned their attention to small farming, poultry raising and fruit growing. There are no Saturday half-holidays with the two Herd sisters, for they are not seen at the county seat or the local trading place on that afternoon talking politics.

These two young women were formerly school teachers. Their little home is comfortable, and it shows every evidence of refinement.

Miss Tillie Rheinschmidt, eighteen years old, has demonstrated this year that she knows how to run a farm. Her father is a well-known citizen of Sumner township, Reno county, but in the summer he was disabled by a serious accident and the burden fell upon his daughter to manage the work. Bessing a hired man and a boy, and doing a lot of the work herself, this bright Kansas girl has put in nearly 100 acres of wheat, and personally helped in the work of gathering the corn from a field of 80 acres. She proudly boasted that hers was the first field of corn gathered in Sumner township.

Probably the best record made by young women on Kansas farms this year is that of the three daughters of Rennie Griem, a Kingman county farmer. One of them was teaching school near Zenda, and the other two were attending Kingman high school. When their father was taken ill the three girls came home from their schools and sailed in to run that farm. The elder sister, the school-ma'am, prepared the ground and planted several acres of corn with her own hands, besides putting out other crops. The two high school girls rolled up their sleeves and made full hands on the farm.

The three of them plowed corn, milked cows, delivered cream, harvested wheat and oats, cut 30 acres of alfalfa three cuttings, put up a lot of prairie hay, raised corn that made 50 bushels to the acre and performed every bit of the farm work unassisted. Not a man was seen on the Griem place all summer. When their father was able to be out they pointed to granaries full of corn and wheat, the barns housing fat cattle and sleek horses, and the bank account intact. They were proud of the fact that they did not pay out a dollar to men to achieve this record.

Generally the women of Kansas who have turned from the cities to the simple life out in the country are not concerned about marriage. They are women of mature years and judgment, to whom marriage relation does not appeal unless it carries with it energy and the ability to make a living.

SANDALS FOR WOMEN URGED

German Savant Predicts Four Toed Foot From Present Style of Shoes—Change Now in Progress.

Los Angeles, Cal.—"American women will have only four toes on each foot a thousand years from now, because they wear shoes too small for them. This in time will pinch the little toe of each foot out of existence."

This was the assertion of Dr. Franz Bergman, a noted physician of Berlin, touring the United States to study American life.

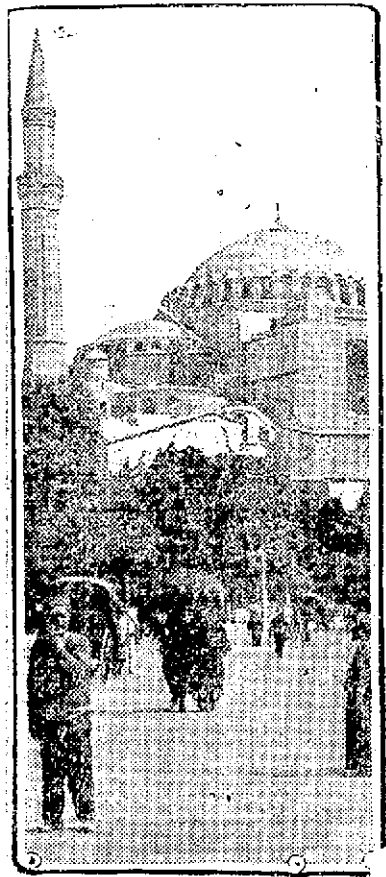

"It will take generations to bring about this change in the anatomy of the foot, but it is coming," he continued. "In fact, it is already in progress."

"The toes of American women are cramped out of their natural shape. One year they wear high heels, the next low. Some seasons their toes are pinched by shoes narrowing in front to a point and others shoved upward or sideways by shoes that represent the changing styles. The only way to save the little toes of future generations is to start women in America wearing sandals."

Diamonds From Volcano.
New York.—Australian diamonds are the latest novelty in the Maiden Lane jewelry district. They are declared by experts to be of fine quality. Hundreds of these diamonds were obtained in a few hours in an extinct volcano in the northern part of New South Wales. They were extracted by the primitive method of hand-sifting the sands in a tub of water. About 20 specimens were sent to New York for private exhibition.

The Great Ambition.
All the world's a stage, and all the men and women are busy trying to get plays accepted for production.

FAMOUS ST. SOPHIA MOSQUE COLLAPSING

News comes from Constantinople that the Mosque of St. Sophia, one of the most famous places of worship in the world, is likely to collapse at any moment, by reason of the damage caused it by a recent earthquake. The church, which measures 250 by 235 feet, was begun in the year 532 by Emperor Justinian and completed within five years. It is of brick, faced with marble, and is in the form of a cross. It was converted from a Christian into a Mohammedan place of worship in 1453, when Mohammed II captured Constantinople. This building is counted as one of the seven wonders of the world.

ENGLISH IMITATE ME, SAYS DEPEW

Chauncey Depew has just returned from England, related over the fact that the British have just adopted the style of whiskers which he has been wearing for nearly fifty years, to-wit, side-burns. "If there are any honors due in this whiskers proposition," declares Mr. Depew, "I must insist upon having them. It took me fifty years to convince the English I was right, and it may take longer to convince Americans." Mr. Depew insists that he is the modern father.

$80,000,000.00 Lost Annually by Wage Earners.

Dr. Sadler estimates that about $80,000,000.00 in wages is lost annually to the American people as a direct result of colds. Lost time means lost wages and doctoring is expensive. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. It will stop the cough, and heal and soothe the sore and inflamed air passages. Cure your common colds quickly, and prevent their developing into more serious conditions. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound contains no opiates. Is safe for children. PREMIER BORDEN, WHO IS RETURNING TO CANADA, MADE MUCH OF IN ENGLAND

Premier Borden and wife.

Premier Borden is returning to Canada after having been made much of during his visit in England. The effusive welcome that was extended him, it is said, was an expression of approval of his emphatic sentiment in favor of a Canadian contribution to the British navy. England wants Canada to present her with two up-to-date battleships, and one reason for Mr. Borden's trip was to assure the English government that he would use all of his influence to induce Canada to make the desired contribution.

WINS TWO PENNANTS IN ONE SEASON

Francis J. Shaughnessy.

Francis J. Shaughnessy enjoys the unique distinction of having won two minor league pennants in one year, one the Central league flag as manager of the Fort Wayne ball club and the other the gonfalon of the Canadian league as owner of the Ottawa club. Shaughnessy graduated from the Virginia State league, a Class C organization, where he managed the Roanoke club, to the Central league, a Class B league, and won the pennant by beating eleven other clubs in the only twelve club league in existence. He did it without a player that looked good enough to the scouts to be purchased by a major league club.

T. L. Parks, Murraysville, Ga., Route 1, is in his 73rd year, and like the majority of elderly people, he suffered with kidney trouble and bladder weakness and urinary irregularity. Neglected Utopia.
Why is the earthly paradise unattractive? Everything that human ingenuity can do to make an ideal dwelling place out of Australia has been done. It is the Utopia from which reformers drew their suggestions for improvements, and it exports to other lands more fads for betterment than any other product. Yet Australia, the source of plans for happiness to all the world, is sadly neglected by seekers after happiness.—Detroit Free Press.

Must Be Either Good or Bad.
"A man's mind may be likened to a garden, which may be intelligently cultivated, or allowed to run wild; but whether cultivated or neglected, it must, and will bring forth. If no useful seeds are put into it, then an abundance of useless weed-seeds will fall therein, and will continue to produce their kind."—James Allen.

To Burn Paper.
There are times when there are bundles of old papers to be burned. This is dangerous in a grate fire. The following is the method which will avert danger of the chimney catching fire. Make tight rolls of all the papers and fasten them with pieces of soft wire—broomstick wire will do. They will then form a kind of a log and burn slowly without a flame. The rolls may be made of any size and several of them burnt together.

More Money in Hogs

Worms are the pests that cut down your stock profits. They keep your pigs from thriving, stunt the little ones, affect your brood sows and the size and vigor of their litters. Some hogs with worms will eat their heads off and not gain a pound; others will gain slowly, many die and if Chocoma breaks out in your neighborhood, the worm infested hogs are first to take it and almost sure to die.

Sal-Vet is a medicated stock salt. Stops all losses from worms quickly. No pay if it fails. No drenching, or dosing, just put a supply where your hogs can run to it freely and they will doctor themselves. You will make more money from hogs if you use Sal-Vet. Thousands have proven it. We carry Sal-Vet in 5 sizes of packages from 75c up. Come in and get a package to try.

Read what E. C. Stone, Peoria, Ill., Sec. American Hampshire Swine Record Ass., Pres. Illinois Swine Breeders' Association says: "I find that Sal-Vet is the most perfect worm exterminator on the market today. It will positively do all that you claim for it. There is nothing within my knowledge as good and reliable or as cheap."

BEEVES AT ELEVEN DOLLAR MARK TODAY

Expected Advance Finally Comes.—
Hogs and Sheep Also Have Better Markets.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, Sept. 19.—An advance in the cattle market this morning resulted in the sale of several loads of the best beefs at the covered $11 mark. The tone of the morning trade was decidedly better and advances were noted all along the line.

Hogs and sheep met with better sale at increased prices, sheep being ten cents above yesterday's average and hogs five cents. Receipts were about normal. Quotations follow:

FRESH CRABAPPLES ARE FEATURE OF FRUIT MARKET

Fresh crabapples are the feature of today's fruit market. These are the finest to be found on the local market this season and they are very plentiful. They are retailing at 75 cents a peck. The canning pears in baskets are also of an excellent quality this year and they are selling for 35 cents a basket. The Tokay and Malaga grapes, which have been so very good this year, are getting to be of a much better quality and they are selling for 10 cents a pound. Concord grapes, which came on the market a short time ago, are still very good and they took a slight decline this morning. They now retail for 22 cents a basket. Of the vegetables the Hubbard squash has been having a heavy demand this season and are bringing 20 cents apiece. The prices of the market for today are as follows:

MAN SUPPOSED TO BE DEAD TESTIFIES IN OWN BEHALF

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Sandusky, O., Sept. 19.—While suit was being heard in the court here today to prove that he was dead, Charles Bretz, who mysteriously disappeared from Middle Bass Island about 17 years ago, reappeared and convinced his two sons of his identity.

Bretz was divorced from his wife before he disappeared. The two sons brought suit to recover certain valuable property and it was during the hearing of the case that it was alleged Bretz was dead.

EDGERTON COUNCIL POSTPONES ACTION

Hear Opinions of Business Men on Lighting Proposal But Decide to Meet Again Tonight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Edgerton, Sept. 19.—At the adjourned meeting of the common council held last night some little enthusiasm was shown by the business men, about fifteen of them being present and about that number of opinions favoring the new street lighting proposition were expressed. There not being a representation of taxpayers outside the business men, the council thought it advisable to hold another meeting this evening when all will be invited to come and express an opinion. There were only four members of the council present at the meeting, but a full membership is expected to be present at tonight's session.

Birthday Surprise.
The members of the German Ladies' Aid society last night perpetrated a surprise party on Mrs. Henry Yeske at her home in the third ward on the occasion of her sixtieth birthday. About thirty-five in number gathered and enjoyed the occasion to the full limit. The evening was spent in various games and at eleven o'clock refreshments were served. Before departing the guests presented the surprised hostess with a beautiful lunch cloth and parlor lamp.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

DOING THINGS TWICE.

THE lady-who-always-knows-somehow had been cheering us up one rainy day by reading extracts from a letter telling in a most amusing way about a vacation trip which had turned out a complete fizzle.

"Isn't she brave to be able to laugh about it?" commented the lady as she folded up the letter. She only has two weeks to herself in the whole year, you know."

"And to think that if she had just gone to the other place she would have met those friends with the automobile and had a wonderful time," commented Molly, the little stenographer lady. "Aren't things always happening like that?"

It seems to me that this would be a much better world if one could only do everything twice. We are always making mistakes about everything because we are always doing everything for the first time, and we naturally don't know any better. I think it would be fine if we were allowed to do everything twice—everything, I mean, going on vacations; and picking out clothes and getting married and bringing up children and—

"You do have the chance to do everything twice if you want to enough, Molly," said the man-who-thinks. "What do you mean?" asked Molly.

"I mean that you can do everything twice if you'll be willing to do it vicariously the first time," said the man-who-thinks.

Molly cocked her head thoughtfully, while the want-to-be-cynic ostentatiously offered her a dictionary.

"Did you ever," went on the man-who-thinks, "did you ever yet do one of those foolish things that you have afterwards regretted and wanted to try over again, without having been strongly advised by someone who had traveled that same path not to do it? Now, for instance, just what were you thinking of when you spoke so strongly about wanting to have a second chance?"

"Why I was thinking about that vacation trip and about the blue dress I bought this spring that sported so."

The lady-who-always-knows-somehow reopened the letter. "Of course it was all my own fault," she read. "Everyone told me I wouldn't like that trip but I had some romantic ideas about it and I would go."

"And mother just begged me not to buy that dress," confessed Molly, "she said it would spoil. She had one that did. But I thought mine would be different somehow."

"Somehow you thought yours would be different," mocked the man-who-thinks. "Oh, Molly, you've told the whole story in seven words. Somehow we always think our case will be different."

"By the way," said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow, "I think there's still another way we can do things twice and correct our mistakes."

"How?" said Molly.

"By helping the second generation to do them right," said the lady-who-always-knows-somehow.

"And so when we won't take older folks' advice they feel as if they were making the mistakes right over again," cried Molly. "Why I never thought of it that way. That's a very serious thought isn't it?"

"It is," said the man-who-thinks, and even the want-to-be-cynic admitted guardedly, "It's quite worth thinking about."

Heart and Home Problems

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a boy of 18 and work in an office. (1) If a man older and over me goes on a vacation it is right for me to go up to him and say good-bye and wish him a good time? (2) Should I make a motion to shake hands with him or wait until he puts out his hand? (3) Does it make any difference if I leave the office first? (4) How should I act when he returns? (5) How should I act when a lady leaves and returns? (6) When leaving a party is it right to go and shake hands with everybody leaving? (7) Is it right to introduce the boy to the girl? (8) What is the best way to acknowledge the introduction? DANIEL.

(1) He might be pleased to have you do this, if you do not intrude upon him at a busy moment. (2) If he is very much your superior, wait for him to make the movement. (3) I do not just understand this question. If both you and your superior wish to go out the door at the same time, step aside for him to pass first. (4) Tell him you are glad to see him back and look as if you mean it. (5) Just about the same as you do with a gentleman older than yourself. (6) Simply say good-bye to your hostess and shake hands with her only if she offers her hand. (7) Yes. (8) Smile and say that you are glad to make the acquaintance.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) How can I rid my daughters hair of nits? (2) How can I get rid of dandruff? WORRIED.

(1) Take equal parts of kerosene and olive oil; mix and rub mixture well into scalp at night, covering head with tightly wrapped piece of muslin. In the morning wash the head with soap, hot water and vinegar. Use fine-toothed comb dipped in vinegar, to comb out nits. Repeat two or three nights. (2) Absolute cleanliness of hair, scalp and all brushes and combs; rub into scalp a little kerosene, with tips of fingers, two or three times a week.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—What will take wash bluing out of a wash dress? MRS. WILSON.

If the dress is white you can bleach out the color with Javelle Water, which can be obtained at the drug store. If dress is colored, try soaking stain out in sour milk.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 18 and have been keeping company with a gentleman about five months. Recently I met another gentleman from out of the city who has known me since I was a little girl. Both like both the same, kindly advise me.

ANXIOUS TESS.

I am pretty sure that you do not love either of them, so why marry one of them? When you meet a man and feel in your heart that life won't be worth living unless you can share it with him, he's the man you should marry, provided he is respectable and able to support you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I was engaged to a nice young fellow when I was 16 and he 19. We were to be married when we both got of age. His affections are now turned from me. How can I win him back? (2) Is it ladylike to allow a young fellow to put his arms around me when we go out walking? (3) Is it proper for me to invite the young fellow I go with to dinner where I am working? (4) What is a good candy recipe? DOLLY.

(1) You can't win him back "for keeps" and you are both too young to promise to wait such a long time. Break the engagement. (2) Not unless they are engaged, and then he shouldn't do it where everybody can see it. (3) Not unless he is invited by your employer. (4) Sea Foam: Two cups brown sugar (or 1-2 cup white). 3-4 cup water, white one egg beaten stiff. Boil sugar and water until it threads, then pour it into beaten white of egg same as for frosting. Beat till ready to drop on buttered plates. You can add nuts or coconut if you wish.

The Kitchen Cabinet

THE boon of dawn after dark hours of pain; The boon of daylight after day's tense strain;

The boon of beauty in created things, The boon of love whence every beauty springs.

These are life's gifts.

ECONOMY IN THE KITCHEN.

To most of us, when speaking of economy, we think of our pocket book; though there are ways of practicing economy fully as important as spending money.

The economy of strength, of health, and of time are all worthy of our consideration.

When arranging a kitchen, if we are privileged to do so, let us provide for the doing of our work with the least possible waste of energy and time.

Have the kitchen arranged so that utensils and food materials are close at hand.

A cabinet for the dishes and materials used in cooking; hooks for the small utensils, salt, pepper, soda, sugar and spices near at hand.

Clean up as you go along, putting things away immediately after use.

Put dishes to soak as soon as they are empty, and the washing will be much easier.

It is desirable for every housekeeper to know how to use the small portions of food that may be left over from the daily meals. The amount of food needed can seldom be estimated with such exactness that all will be used.

No matter how carefully the meals are planned, our appetites vary, tastes differ, and unexpected things change our calculations.

Unless we use up the left-overs each day, we will in a few days be faced with too large a problem to solve.

The common practice of turning everything left over into the garbage pail is too frequent. It is wiser often to feed to pets or poultry the small bits of food than to make them over and buy food for them.

The wise housekeeper looks over the larder on planning for the day, and sees what can be wisely used before buying new material.

A left-over served in a haphazard manner, even though it may be of good material, is often refused; but if served daintily with a sauce or some accompaniment would be eaten with relish.

Cookery being a fine art, it has its laws of proportion, harmony and contrast, as does painting or music.

It is just as legitimate an enjoyment, this art of taste, on which so much of our well being depends, as any of the so-called higher arts.

PRE-NATAL INFLUENCE ON NUTRITION.

I have given many illustrations of the importance of pre-natal influence on nutrition as well as in other respects, pointing out that most of the most persistent idiosyncrasies in feeding habits are hereditary. I have lately learned of a family in which the mother has been able to trace peculiar conditions of temperament and habits of eating to the peculiar circumstances preceding birth in each case. The most remarkable of these she discovered by accident. Preceding the birth of one child she was often obliged to work late in the evening, and when finished was obliged to rest before eating. Often she fell asleep, and would rise to eat about ten o'clock. The child would frequently wake about this hour and cry and remain restless for a long time. Once she tried giving the child a piece of cake. He ate this and went to sleep immediately, and whenever this sleeplessness occurred she found that giving something to eat overcame it at once. From all that has been said on the relation between the feeding of the mother and the nutrition of the infant, it is clear that the subject is one of great interest and importance. I shall be glad to receive reports from readers of such examples as the cases already mentioned, and shall give suggestions for avoiding undesirable influences and for cultivating good habits of nutrition and disposition in children through prenatal influence.

The Dreams of a Beauty Doctor

THIS is the way I answer letters in dreams. I wish my dreams could come true.

Dear Peachy:—Will you please let me know if powder and rouge hurt the skin? I have been using it for two years and now I would like to stop; but I find a great change in my complexion. It is yellow like wax. What can I do?

Sweetie.

Now what was the use of asking that question? She knows well enough by what she says that her complexion is ruined. It is a case of hoping against hope. I suppose she thinks it will be some comfort to her if I tell her, despite the fact that her skin is yellow like wax, "No, it isn't injured a particle." But the last sentence is the key of the whole letter, "What can I do to be saved—oh, no, I mean to remedy the damage?"

Nothing I fear. It's like using hair dye. Once you begin, you have to keep at it. It's like a good many things of this sort. They all seem very delightful and pleasurable at first. But oh, my, after awhile! Dead Sea fruit isn't in it. Sweetie, my dear, if you'll go in for hygienic living, right food and drink and plenty of exercise and fresh air and baths, Dame Nature who is a kindly soul and doesn't cherish grudges—though goodness knows she could be excused for doing so, the way she is treated—will, maybe, give you a new skin. Patiently, day by day, she'll build little new cells, and if you give her the right material to build with, you may after awhile get back your bloom and freshness. And if you do, for goodness sake, don't extinguish it again with a rouge pot and powder puff.

Dear Peachy:—My nose is too large. Can you tell me what to do with it?

Removing the nose is a painful operation. And a countenance without a nose is quite as lacking in beauty as one with a too large nasal organ. It is also difficult to patch it down. About the only consolation left you is the fact that people with large noses are usually very smart. To be sure, from your letter, I shouldn't judge,—but there, really I don't think there's anything to be done for your nose, but forget it.

Dear Peachy:—Does belladonna hurt the eyes? I know some girls who put it in their eyes to make them beautiful. I would like beautiful eyes.

Girlie.

What a wiser little wait! We would all like beautiful eyes, Girlie. But did you ever see any eyes more beautiful than those that express interest or kindness or just plain happiness? The loveliest eyes that I ever saw were those that expressed overflowing happiness. I called them "happy eyes," and they quite transformed a plain girl's face. Happiness and content and kindness are greater beautifiers than belladonna. And safer. And cheaper. Let your eyes shine with joy, and you won't need to visit the drug shop for belladonna or eyebrow pencils or anything of the kind. And if you want to realize what expression does for the eyes, consider a doll's eyes. They are perfectly shaped, beautifully colored, have long, curly lashes and everything that beautiful eyes should have. But are they beautiful? If you think so, why not get glass eyes?

DAMSON Plum Butter—Simmer the fruit, with a little water, over gentle heat, stirring occasionally. When they are soft work them through a coarse sieve. To every pint of pulp and juice thus obtained add a half a pound of granulated sugar. Simmer gently for two hours, removing the scum as it rises. If a few of the stones are cracked and the kernels boiled with the fruit the flavor is improved. When the butter seems firm in the spoon pour into small jam pots and cover with melted paraffine. This is an old English recipe and the English name for the rich spread is "Damsen Cheese."

Plum Jam—Wash the fruit and stone it and to every pound of plums allow two-thirds of a pound of sugar. Put fruit and sugar into preserving kettle; keep stirring gently until sugar is dissolved; carefully remove scum as it rises. Boil about an hour, stirring frequently. Protect the bottom of the kettle with an asbestos lid to prevent burning. When the jam looks firm and the juice appears to be sufficiently thick it is done.

Damson Preserves—Make a rich syrup of sugar and water, when it threads from the spoon drop in the whole plums and simmer gently until the fruit is tender, but not until the skins burst. Lift out carefully with a draining spoon and place in jars; pour the rich syrup over them and seal.

The plums should be pricked with a needle before they are put into the syrup; this prevents the skins from bursting.

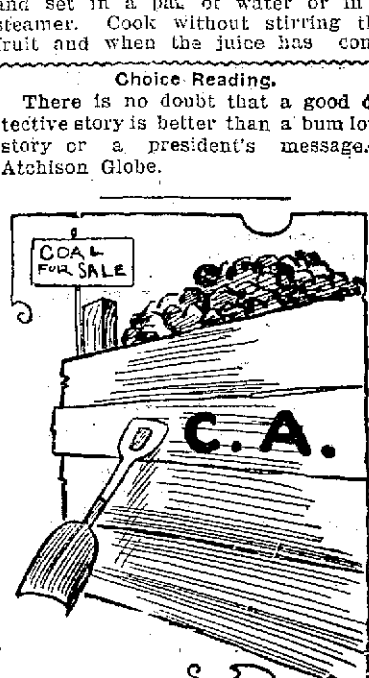

If a large quantity must be preserved at once they may be put into a stoneware crock with layers of granulated sugar between them and cooked in a sauce pan of water or in the oven until the plums are soft but not broken. Remove the fruit from the crock and place in jars. Boil the remaining juice until it is thick and rich; pour it over the fruit and seal with paraffine.

Plum Jelly—Damson plums are used for this as they are the lowest in pulp and to be had in larger quantities.

Put the plums in a porcelain pan and set in a pan of water or in a steamer. Cook without stirring the fruit and when the juice has come

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

Here's a brand new excuse for buying an automobile.

In spite of long and earnest persuasion by the wife of his bosom, Bjinks had protested that he couldn't afford an automobile. Didn't want one, didn't approve of 'em anyway, and wouldn't have one.

But a friend saw him scorching down the boulevard the other day in a high-powered light brown affair that made a hot streak in the air as it whizzed by.

"What's the answer?" asked the friend of Mrs. Bjinks, upon whom she called later in the day. "I thought your husband was unutterably opposed to buying a machine."

"He was," answered Mrs. Bjinks. "Nothing I could say would persuade him. And to this day I don't know what changed him. But he gives the funniest excuse you ever heard, as his reason."

"I happened to mention one day that I wished we could go to church sometimes in the little old village church where I went as a girl and where John first courted me. The place is only about 30 miles from here, but I haven't been to church there since we came to the city shortly after we were married.

"Well, just about a week later John came home and told me he had bought an automobile."

"I thought it would be a good thing to go to church in," he explained. "We can go around to all the country churches on Sunday mornings."

"Well, I nearly fell over, because never before had John displayed any prominent longing for church-going. The few times he has gone I've had to tease him or bribe him to go."

"Well, any excuse is a good excuse, when you get what you want," remarked the friend. "I suppose you'll be enjoying yourself to the top notch now, with the new machine. It's a beauty!"

"Well, I don't know whether I will or not," doubtfully replied Mrs. Bjinks. "John's gone clean out of his head about that automobile. He's never home any more and the way he looks is a perfect shame. The other day he came in and he was greasy from top to toe, and he didn't even apologize for ruining one of his best suits of clothes. His conversation consists entirely of automobile matters and he doesn't read anything now but automobile literature. He isn't interested in his business or home any more, and when he condescends to take me driving he goes so fast it scares the life out of me. My only hope is that it's a temporary aberration."

"Men are awfully queer, aren't they?" commented the friend.

A correspondent wants to know how to pronounce Chihuahua. The best way is to say Chy-hew-a-kew and then laugh as though you knew better. If it is done artistically you can get away with it nearly every time. The same treatment has been frequently applied to decollete with great success.

Gall Stones Removed Without an Operation

After suffering for one year with gall stones I was told by a friend to try Swamp-Root. I began with the fifty-cent size and after using four bottles found that I was much better. Then began using the larger size bottles and after taking three bottles I was cured. That has been seven years this summer and I have never been sick since that time from this disease.

I can cheerfully recommend Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to any one for kidney and bladder troubles hoping it may do as much good for many people as it did for me.

Yours truly,

GIVES DANCING PARTY AT NEW STORE BUILDING

Col. J. F. Carle is Host At Pleasant Affair Last Evening—Seventy-Five Couples Present.

A very pleasant and enjoyable dancing party was held last night at the new store building erected by J. F. Carle, 1308 Highland avenue, and which he expects to occupy in a few days. Seventy-five couples were present to enjoy the festivities. The first number, a quadrille, was led by Col. J. F. Carle, assisted by Supt. Frank Dixon, General Architect Wm. Grove and Matt Carrier George Hill. Although the rain kept many away it was an occasion long to be remembered by those who were there. The music was furnished by the George L. Hatch full orchestra.

PARTRIDGES ARE PLENTIFUL IN NORTHERN WISCONSIN

Woodmen Report Seeing More Than In Many Years Past—Absence of Forest Fires Partly Responsible.

Florence, Wis., Sept. 16.—Every one who has occasion to go into the woods this summer has remarked about the great number of partridge that exist this year. To a casual observer there seems to be more partridge in the woods this year than has been the case for a number of years.

This is probably due to two reasons. First the season has been a good one for the rearing of the young and secondly the game supervision has been more stringent this year than in the past. The practice of gun parties especially among the foreigners, in which from two to a dozen men go out and slaughter ruthlessly every winged creature met with, has been stopped because of the frequent arrests a year ago. The bird slaughterers have been frightened and they let the birds alone. As a result there is an increase instead of a decrease of birds. The absence of forest fires has been another agency for the increase of the partridge and it looks as if there will be pretty fair bird hunting.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

CONVERSATION.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

CONVERSATION is a method of polite articulation which is sometimes accompanied by thought. This is not necessary, however, as thousands of people are able to converse for hours at a stretch without making any perceptible drain upon the mental faculties.

A conversation-alist is a person who is invited to a social gathering for the purpose of plugging up a m b a r r a s s i n g pause in the conversation with bright sayings which are so bright that they have worn shiny. A good conversation-alist is a rare bird, and can put everybody at his ease by springing a r i s q u e story with an apologetic cough at the psychological moment.

The most popular form of conversation is the uninterrupted variety which has no particular destination. This kind usually begins with an argument about the ingredients of corn starch pudding and winds up with some critical remarks relative to the appearance of the new minister. Some people are low-minded enough to call this form of long-distance conversation "the gift of gab."

A great many people are able to converse intelligently upon any topic without raising their voice higher than the door sill, while others tune up to high G and secure added emphasis by waving their hands and feet. Most of the political conversation now in vogue is conducted on the latter plan.

Owing to an innate sense of courtesy and lack of opportunity, men do not rush into conversation when there are any women present. No man ever attempted to monopolize the conversation in the presence of several undaunted females without contributing his mite to the mortuary records. This is one reason why so many men never start to say anything in a mixed company without dodging.

The most unbridled form of conversation is that which attacks a swivel-tongued employee on a rush job. This has a discouraging effect upon most employers and causes them to utter mournful cuss words in a savage tone of voice.

SCHEME ADVERTISERS PRESENT A PROBLEM

Houston Adcraft Club Discuss Pertinent Question Which Confronts Present Day Newspapers.

The 110 members of the Houston Adcraft Club, representing as many business concerns in Houston, Tex., have declared most emphatically against what is commonly termed "scheme advertising."

The elimination of the illegitimate and unprofitable advertising mediums has always been a strong plank in the club's platform, but it is now being strengthened by a more general education among the business houses as to just how to handle this class of propositions when they are presented.

J. B. Westover, president of the club, had this to say: "There are professional advertising schemers who travel about the country getting up this and that sort of thing to secure money from the business men under the guise of advertising. It may be a 'cook' book, souvenir program, hotel rules and regulations banner, worthless business directory or some other such scheme."

"They are not gotten-out-with any idea of being a help to the public—but merely to sell advertising space and secure a slice of the various advertising appropriations in the city. Circulation will be claimed anywhere up to a hundred thousand, but, as a rule, only enough copies are printed to supply the advertisers, showing them that their ad appeared—and to make a pretense at distribution. One or two hundred copies are usually the limit. Mr. Schomer puts up his money in a sack and carries it away with him—and the advertiser has received nothing in return."

"Nor are transient schemers the only offenders. Many local people and organizations, through an improper knowledge of what constitutes good advertising, or misled by some live-by-wit, are responsible for foisting these schemes upon the business public."

"It seems that when an organization wishes to raise a little money the first thing they think of is to go out and peddle space on some sort of a program. This one-time proposition is conceded to be, by experienced space buyers the world over, absolutely worthless, or nearly so at least, as a producer of business."

"But business men sometimes feel that they must patronize these schemes, because they do not wish to incur the ill will of the promoters and perhaps lose trade by it. It is not infrequent that this point is suggested more or less boldly by the solicitor in order to persuade the advertiser to take action."

"Whenever an advertising solicitor attempts to use any argument other than the value of his medium as a legitimate producer of business he is practicing petty fraud."

"It is the plan of the Adcraft club to investigate the legitimacy of all those forms of so-called advertising and discourage those which are not worthy of consideration."

DELAY IN SECURING SEATS FOR THE TRAINING SCHOOL.

Lack of Sufficient Seating Facilities Has Made Use of Chairs Necessary in Main Room.

Lack of sufficient seats for the main room of the Rock County training school has made it necessary for the school authorities to place chairs in the room for a part of the pupils enrolled, but within a short time, it is thought, new seats will arrive. The seating system at the school was changed this year and new seats were ordered, but have not yet arrived. A representative of the American Seating Company, from whom the purchase was made, was in the city yesterday to see County Superintendent of Schools Antisdel, and informed the county superintendent that the delay was due to a rush of orders at the company's factory. He promised to do what he could to secure the shipment of the seats shortly. Larger pedestals are to be placed under the seats now being used in the school. The seats when purchased were a new product, and were found to be a little small. The company has offered to make the change without cost to the school.

Poetry In Skycrappers.

It is a mistake to think we must go back a thousand years or more for genuine poetic inspiration or that the poet of today must necessarily confine himself to the veins that the Greeks worked to create their lasting vogue. There is poetry in the big modern institutions where twentieth century life pulsates, if only there be the imagination that can treat it in a masterly way.

CLEANSE YOUR LIVER AND BOWELS WITH DELICIOUS "SYRUP OF FIGS."

REMOVES THE SOUR BILE, GASES AND CLOGGED-UP WASTE WITH-OUT GRIPE OR NAUSEA. NO HEADACHE, INDIGESTION, CONSTIPATION, BILIOUSNESS OR COATED TONGUE.

Foul breath, coated tongue, dull throbbing headache, stomach sour and full of gases, indigestion, biliousness and a sallow complexion, mean that your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with waste matter; that these drainage organs of the body are obstructed; liver stagnant and stomach full of poisonous gases, sour bile and undigested fermenting food not properly carried off.

Most of our ills are caused by constipated bowels. We all need a laxative sometimes; nobody can doubt that. The only question is, which one is the best and that isn't a question any more. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna and aromatics, must act in a harmless gentle and natural way. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without injury. Its action is the action of fruit—of eating coarse food—of taking exercise. It is a true and effective liver and bowel cleanser and regulator.

Most folks dread physic—they shrink from the taste and after effects. Syrup of Figs is delicious, and, besides, you don't realize you have taken anything until morning, when all the clogged-up waste of the system is gently but thoroughly moved on and out of the bowels without gripping or weakness.

Ask your druggist for the full name, "Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna." This is the old reliable and only genuine. ARefuse, with contempt, any other Fig Syrup recommended as good. They are imitations meant to deceive you. Read the label carefully and look for the name California Fig Syrup Company.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—But why should Grace's Fiance despair with Leap-year still on.

Never Repeat an Unkind Thing. Never repeat unkind things. But if you hear something kind and pleasant and sweet, then make it your business to repeat it. It may sound superior to say you do not care whether people like you or not, you must speak your mind. That isn't superiority. It is supreme selfishness and surliness.

WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS

Many Unsuccessful — And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning.

The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when often it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.

Here is her own statement. Paw Paw, Mich. — "Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and strong and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it." — Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 5, Paw Paw, Michigan.

If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"All right," she answered briskly. "Here it is as plain as A B C. I've decided to accept your offer and take the money."

She looked up at him, smiling gallantly. But as her eye caught his her smile, try as she would to keep it, died. She suddenly realized that she was extremely nervous, that her lips were dry, and the hand she put up to adjust her veil, and thus hide her intractable mouth, was shaking. The admiration he had of late felt for her insolent fearlessness increased, also he began to feel that now, at last, he was rising to the position of master of the situation. He leaned back in the swivel chair and glowered at her. "You know," he said slowly, "you're a gall that beats anything I've ever seen. Two days ago you busted this business higher than a kite by stopping my daughter on the public street and telling her the whole story. You did the one thing you knew I'd never forgive; and you ended the affair, hammered the nails in its coffin and buried it. Now you come flourishing into my office as if nothing had happened and say you'll take the money. It beats me how you've got the nerve to dare to show your face in here."

Berny listened with the hand holding the veil pressed against her mouth and her eyes staring over it. "It's all straight enough," she burst out, "what you say about telling your daughter. I did it and I was crazy. I'll admit that. But you'll have to admit on your side that it was pretty rough the way I was treated here, ordered out like a peddler. I was sore, and it was you that made me so. And I'll not deny that I wanted to hit you back. But you brought it on yourself. And, anyway, what does it matter if I go? Maybe your daughter's mad and disgusted now, but women don't stay that way for ever. If I get out, drop out of sight, the way I intend to do, give Dominick his freedom, isn't she going to forget all about what I said? Wouldn't any woman?"

The Bonanza King made no answer. He had no intention of talking with this objectionable woman about his daughter. But in his heart hope sprang at the words. They were an echo of his own desires and opinions. If this woman took the money and went, would not Rose, in the course of time, relent in her attitude of iron disapproval, and smile on the man she loved? Could any woman hold out for ever in such a position?

"See here," Berny went out, "I'll leave a statement. I'll put in your hands that I changed my mind and voluntarily left. I'll draw it up before a notary if you want. And it's true. She needn't think that I'm being forced out to make a place for her. I'm glad to go."

She had leaned nearer to him from the chair, one finger tapping the corner of the desk to emphasize her words. Scrutinizing her as she spoke, he became more and more ever impressed with the conviction that she was held in a tremor of febrile excitement. Her voice had an under note of vibration in it, like the voice of one who breathes quickly. The orchid on her breast trembled with the trembling of her frame.

"Look here," he said quietly. "I want to understand this thing. What's made you change your mind so suddenly? A few days ago you were all up on fiddle-strings at the suggestion of taking that money. Here, this morning, in you pop, and you're all of a tremble to get it. What's the meaning of it?"

"I can't stand it any more," she said. "When you said I couldn't the other day, that I'd break down, you were right. I can't stand it. Nobody could. It's broken me to pieces. I want to get away from it all. I want to go somewhere where I'm at peace, where the people don't hate me and hound me."

Her voice suddenly grew hoarse and she stopped. He looked at her in surprise. She bent her face down, biting her under lip, and picked tremulously at the leaves of the purple orchid as if arranging them.

"You've beaten me," she said in a suddenly strangled voice; "you've beaten me. I can't fight any longer. Give me some money and let me go. I'm beaten."

She lowered her head still farther and burst into tears. So unexpected were they that she had no preparations for them. Her handkerchief was in the bead purse that hung on her wrist, and, blinded by tears, she could not find the clasp. Her fumbling hand tried for a possible reserve supply in her belt, and then in despair went up to her face and lifted her veil trying to brush away the falling drops. The Bonanza King stared at her amazed, as much surprised as if he had seen a man weep. Finally he felt in his own pocket, produced a crisply-ironed square of white linen and handed it to her, observing soothingly:

"Here, take mine. You're all broke up, aren't you?"

She seized his offering and mopped her cheeks with it, sniffing and gasping, while he watched her in genuine sympathy.

"What's wore you down to this state?" he said. "You're the nerviest woman I ever saw."

"It's—it's—all this thing," she answered in a stifled voice. "I'm just worn out. I haven't slept for nights—a memory of those miserable nights of perturbation and uncertainty swept over her and submerged her in a wave of self-pity. The tears gushed out again, and she held the old man's large handkerchief against her eyes, uttering small, sobbing noises, sunk in abandoned despondence in the hollow of the chair.

The Bonanza King was moved. The facile tears of women did not affect him, but the tears of this bold, hard, unbreakable creature, whom he had regarded only as an antagonist to be vanquished, stirred him to a sort of abashed sympathy. There was something singularly pathetic about the completeness of her breakdown. She, who had been so audacious an adversary, now in all her crumpled finery was weeping into his handkerchief, was so entirely and utterly a feeble, crushable thing.

"Come, brace up," he said cheerfully. "We can't do any talking while you're acting this way. What's the proposition again?"

"I want some money and I want to go," she raised her head and lowered the handkerchief, speaking with a strained, throaty insistence like a child. "I can't live here any more. I can't bear it. It would give a prize fighter nervous prostration. I can't bear it." Her voice grew small and high. "Really I can't," she managed to articulate, and then dissolved into another flood.

The old man, high in his swivel chair, sat with his hands in his pockets, his lips pursed and his eyes on the floor. Once or twice he whirled the chair slightly from one side to the other. After a pause of some minutes he said:

"Are you prepared to agree to anything Mrs. Ryan and I demanded?" After the last outbreak she had completely abandoned herself to the hysterical condition that was beyond her control. Now she made an effort to recover herself, sat up, swallowing and gasping, while she wiped her eyes. "I'm ready to do it all," she sniffed. "Only—only—" she paused on the verge of another collapse, suppressed it, and said with some show of returning animation, "only I must have some money now—a guarantee."

"Oh," he said with the descending note of comprehension. "As I remember, we agreed to pay you seven thousand dollars for the first year, the year of desertion."

She lowered the handkerchief entirely, presenting to him a disfigured face, all its good looks gone, but showing distinct signs of attention.

"I don't want the seven thousand. I'll waive it. I want a sum down, a guarantee, an advance. You offered me at first fifty thousand dollars. Give me that down and I'll go this afternoon."

Berny stood waiting, throbbing from head to foot with excitement.

"That wasn't our original arrangement," he said to gain time.

"Deduct it from the rest. I must have it. I can't go without it. If you give me the check now I'll leave for New York tonight."

Her reviving interest and force seemed to have quenched the sources of her tears as suddenly as her exhausted nerves had made them flow. But her disfigured face, her figure which seemed to have shrunk in its fine clothes, were extremely pathetic.

"If you don't trust me send one of your clerks with me to buy my ticket, send one to see me off. I've left my husband for good, for ever. I can't live here any longer. Give me the money and let me go."

"I don't see that I'm going to have any security that you're going to carry out the whole plan. How do I know that you're not going to New York to have a good time and then, when you've spent the money, come back here?"

She sat up and sent a despairing look about the room as if in a wild search for something that would convince him of her sincerity.

"I swear, I promise," she cried with almost frantic emphasis, "that I'll never come back. I'm going for good and I'm going to set Dominick free. Oh, do believe me. Please, I'm telling the truth."

He was impressed by her manner, as he had been by her tears. Something, undoubtedly, had happened which had suddenly caused her to change her mind and decide to leave her husband. He did not think that it was what she had told him. Her excitement, her overwrought condition suggested a cause less gradual, more like a shock. He ran over in his mind the advantages of giving her the money. Nothing would be jeopardized by it. It would simply be an advance made on the sum they had agreed upon.

"Fifty thousand's too much," he said slowly. "But I'll be square to you and I'll split the difference and give you twenty-five. I'll give you the check now and you can take it and go to-night."

She shook her head obstinately. "It won't do," she said. "What difference does it make to you whether you give it to me now or next year? I'll give you a receipt for it. There won't be any trouble about it. It's as broad as it's long. It's simply an advance on the main sum."

He looked moodily at her and then down. Her demand seemed reasonable enough, but he distrusted her. "If you don't believe me," she insisted, "send out that clerk of yours to buy my ticket to New York. Tell him to go up to the flat and he'll see my trunks all packed and ready. I tell you you've beaten me. You and Mrs. Ryan are one too many for me."

He again looked at her, his lips pressed together, his eye coldly considering.

"I'll give you thirty thousand dollars and it's understood that you're to leave the city tonight."

She demurred, but with less show of vigor, and, for a space, they haggled over the sum till they finally agreed upon thirty-five thousand dollars.

As the old man drew the check she watched him with avid eagerness, restraining by force the hand that trembled in its anxiety to become possessed of the slip of paper. He noticed, as she bent over the desk to sign the receipt, that her fingers shook so they could hardly direct the pen.

She remarked it herself, setting it down to her upset nerves, and laughing at the sprawling signature.

With the check in her hand she rose, something of the airy buoyancy of demeanor that had marked her on her entrance returning to her.

"Well," she said, opening her purse, "this is the real beginning of our business relations. I feel as if we were partners."

The old man gave a short, dry laugh. He could not rid his mind of suspicions of her and the whole proceedings, though he did not see just how she could be deceiving him.

"Wait till next year," he said. "When I see the divorce papers I'll feel a lot surer of the partnership."

She snapped the clasp of her purse, laughing and moving to the door. She was wild to get away, to escape from the dark room that held such unpleasant memories, and the old man, whose steely penetrating eye fastened on her, was full of unsatisfied query.

"Well, so long!" she cried, opening the door. "Next time we meet it will be more sociable, I hope. We really ought to be old friends by this time."

She hardly knew what she was saying, but she laughed with a natural gaiety, and in the doorway turned and bowed her jaunty good-bys to him. He stood back and nodded good-humoredly at her, his face showing puzzlement under its slight, ironic smile.

When Your Hair Brushes Out
Your hair is as sensitive as your skin—even more so. It stands up under heavy hats, curling irons, and diseases of the scalp, etc.—But there is a limit.

When you comb and brush your hair in the morning, watch for the "TRAILERS" that turn grey, fall out, and comb out with the first morning brush.

You MUST know that there's something wrong. If your hair was in good health, it wouldn't fall out, nature never intended that. There is something wrong at the root of things—the hair needs a tonic-a restorer.

When you are sick you take medicine. That is your first thought. Its turning grey, falling out, are both ways the hair has of "complaining of illness." It can't do it in any other way.—DO YOUR PART, USE HAY'S HAIR HEALTH.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, September 19, 1872.—Southern Wisconsin Fair, Third Day: Yesterday afternoon the weather was most inauspicious for the exercises connected with the Southern Wisconsin fair. A cold wind prevailed, accompanied by showers of rain, and there was a perceptible thinning out of the crowd on the grounds. The general review of horses and cattle on the track took place at two o'clock p. m., and at three o'clock the trotting race for stallions, for purses of fifty dollars was called. Entries were made by A. H. Eager, Evansville; Wm. Taylor, Beloit; T. Golly, Peckatonic; Jas. Van Etta, Fulton; and Nelson Armstrong, Van Etta's horse won in two straight heats, Golly's horse taking second money. Time, 3:04 and 3:02 1/2. The running race for thoroughbreds purses to the amount of fifty dollars, being offered. Entries were made by Jas. Ward, C. D. Wooster, A. E. Stone, G. V. Wooster. A. E. Stone's horse distanced the field on the first heat and took the purse. Numerous severe showers interfered with the races, rendering the track heavy and driving most of the spectators under cover. The running race closed the exercises for yesterday and after it was brought to a close the crowd dispersed. There was a general rush for the grounds this morning, and throughout the forenoon a continuous column of spectators filed through the entrance gate. At twelve o'clock the roasted ox was served up from the center of the grounds. This barbecue, from its novelty, was an interesting feature of today's proceedings.

BY WALT MASON

When I was young and full of vim I labored in my father's field, and I have heard it said by him that none a hoe could better wield; beneath my care the pumpkins thrived, tall grew the turnips and the corn; and when the noon hour had arrived, my father blew the dinner horn. Talk of the music of the spheres and all the sounds inspiring men! They would have jarred upon my ears, had they come floating to me then! I've heard great singers carol through notes of joy and notes of scorn, but nothing ever stirred my soul like father's old tin dinner horn. I've heard the noble organ peal, and thought it heavenly grand; I've heard march, waltz, Virginia reel, performed by Sousa's bully band; I've heard the great Caruso trot out songs sublime as e'er were born, but nothing ever hit the spot like father's old tin dinner horn. A creak on music, I have heard, all over the world, to hear the best; the masters of all lands have failed to give my yearning spirit rest. When on their instruments they pound or beat or blow, my soul forlorn but reaches back to hear the sound of father's old tin dinner horn.

Great Value of Coconut.
The coconut is not only valuable as a source of food and drink in tropical countries, but is also the best of all trees for shade.

"If a chauffeur blows his horn does a substitute or if the cricket didn't make the noise do you think Katy did?"

DINNER STORIES

John W. Hutchinson, Jr., who had charge of the eastern branch of the Taft bureau in New York City, used to be a reporter. That is, he put in one of his college vacations in studying to be a journalist.

He was one of the Tribune city staff. Displayed on the walls of the city editor's room in those days were cards which were printed in big type the words "ACCURACY." At that time there was a line of type on the editorial page of the Tribune to the effect that the paper was founded by Horace Greeley. The line isn't to be found there any more.

"Hutch," as he was known in the office, was put on the job in which Mr. Greeley's name had to be written, not only once but several times. In some way the item was sent up without being read and the proofreader didn't catch Hutchinson's spelling. When "Hutch" came in the next day the city editor was "laying" for him. Taking him by the arm he led him around the room and pointed out each card containing the warning "ACCURACY."

"Did you ever read these cards?" he inquired.

"Hutch" thought he had. The city editor then opened a file of the paper and pointed to the line containing the name of Horace Greeley.

"Did you ever see this line in the Tribune?" asked the city editor.

"Hutch" thought he had. "Then why, in the name of Jonah and the whale did you leave out the final 'e' in Greeley's name?" The city editor didn't use just those words, but that was what he meant.

"Well, sir," replied the adolescent journalist, "Mr. Greeley wrote such a poor hand that I doubt if anybody ever knew whether or not there was a final 'e' in his name."

The city editor looked at him critically for a moment and said: "You're not a reporter, you're a funny man. You'd better apply for a job on Life."

But "Hutch" went back to college and when he had finished he studied law. Now when he isn't practicing law he is in politics for the fun of it.

When Fred Kelly first broke into Cleveland journalism he was put on police. One night he was sent to a big fire down on the flats. A reporter named Brown was sent with him. The fire was a whale, and presently Brown disappeared. A wall had fallen and Kelly was sure Brown was under it. He rushed to the telephone and called up the city editor.

"Say!" he shouted into the telephone; "Brown is gone; He's burned up!"

"What's that?" asked the city editor.

"Brown is burned up, I tell you! He fell into the fire."

"All right," said the city editor, hanging up the telephone. "I'll send down another man."
